Mahalak rips sewer debt payback

State rep says 'residents will bear burden'

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

State Representative Edward Mahalak last week took exception to an article in the Roman which dealt with the City of Romulus' approval of a plan to pay back a sewer debt.

Mahalak called the article "vague" and extremely misleading" and outlined three separate statements that he disagreed with.

The first quote that raised the ire of Mahalak was:

"The audit, completed in October, 1982, determined that there had been irregularities not of a serious nature, regarding the handling of money which had been raised from the levy intended for Water and Sewer Debt Retirement Fund."

Mahalak responded: "I would agree that there has been irregularities uncovered by the audit. Further, while I admit that each individual would gauge the question in an entirely subjective manner, I believe that most citizens of Romulus would feel that the improper transfer of $2 million did constitute a problem of a 'serious legal nature.'"

The article also reported that consulting Attorney Robert Hammell made a presentation at the council meeting, outlining the Attorney General's proposal for paying the debt.

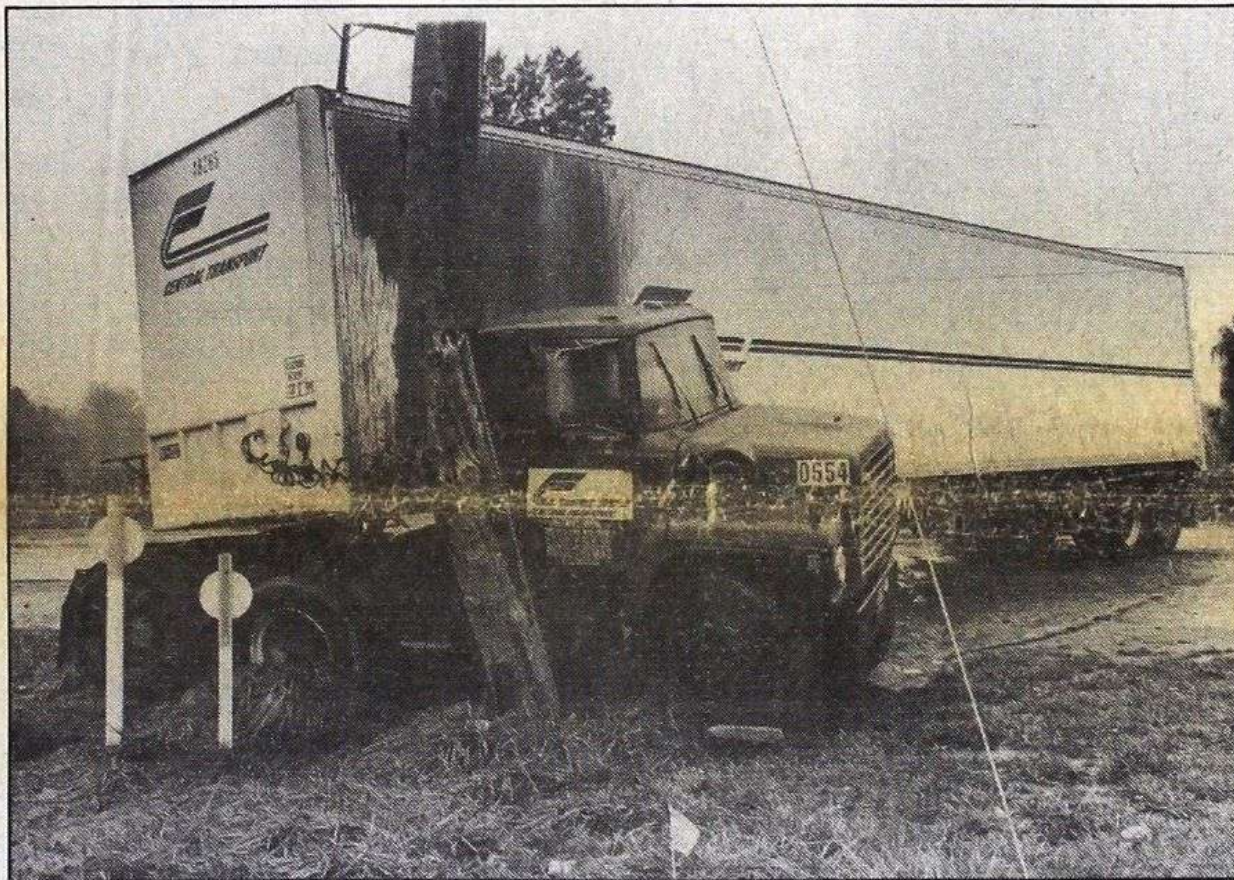

"The presentation made by Mr. Hammell was not the Attorney General's proposal," countered Mahalak. "Rather, the proposal was the result of numerous meetings called at my insistence between the department of treasury, the Attorney General, the City of Romulus and representatives of the Municipal Finance Commission to assist the city in developing a proposal for repayment."

Mahalak also was not pleased that the article reported a debt balance of $145,996 for the city, which could be paid in a three year time limit without additional levy over the ten-mill charter limit through fiscal year 1986-87.

"I am appalled by the statement that the city has a balance of $145,996," said Mahalak. "The actual state of affairs is that the City of Romulus must generate, starting July 1, 1983, $888,518 over the next four years to repay funds which were improperly transferred from the Water-Sewer-Debt Service. ### He walked away uninjured

Although the driver of this trailer, Russell John Cooper, of Grand Rapids managed to walk away from the wreck, the vehicle and a utility pole were dismantled. Cooper was traveling eastbound on Ecorse about 8 a.m. on Saturday when he attempted to stop at a railroad crossing where the gates were under repairs. Police said that Cooper apparently lost control of his vehicle, crossed into the westbound lane and slammed into the utility pole. He said he was not injured.

Store employee is victim

2 men accused of armed robbery

Returning to the area of an armed robbery led to the arrests of two young men who are accused of robbing a Romulus man of his wallet and jacket.

The suspects: Eddie Dean Griffin, 17, of Inkster, and D.L. Warren, Jr., 20, of Romulus were apprehended by Wayne and handed over to the Romulus police for prosecution after the victim pointed out the defendants in a local party store.

Griffin and Warren appeared in 34th District Court before Judge Henry Zaborowski to answer to charges of armed robbery. Griffin also was charged with possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony.

Both men stood mute and the court entered pleas of not guilty. Examination has been set for November 2, and the defendants were remanded to Wayne County Jail in lieu of $20,000 bonds.

David Greenberg, an employee of the Food Fair mini-market on Beverly Road, told local police that he was walking home when two men approached him. One of the men, Greenberg said, was armed with a handgun, while the other brandished a knife.

The robbers ordered Greenberg to hand over his wallet and also took his jacket, then fled on foot, Greenberg related.

Greenberg said he returned home, attempted to sleep, couldn't so he returned to the store. Shortly afterward, three men entered the store and Greenberg said he recognized two of them as the men who had earlier robbed him. He called police and Wayne officers responded and took the suspects in custody.

Greenberg also told police that while on his way back to the store he found his wallet, emptied of its contents.

In what police said was an unrelated case, two men held up a Romulus couple and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash and a necklace.

Edwin Ogger told Romulus police that he arrived home about 9:15 p.m. last Thursday and saw two men loitering in the 8000 block on Wahrman. Ogger said the men approached him and companion and asked for directions.

While the three were talking, the companion and two children entered the house.

Ogger told the strangers that he'd have to get a map to locate the area the men were seeking, and went into the dwelling, followed by the men. Once inside, the strangers produced a nickel-plated revolver and announced the hold-up.

The robbers fled the scene after tying up Ogger with telephone cord.

Ogger told Romulus police that he didn't see a getaway car.

DNR boss to field queries on dump

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

The new director of the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will be in town this Thursday to hear arguments from area residents on whether Michigan Disposal should be granted a license amendment allowing it to process a broader range of combustible toxic waste.

Ronald Skoog, appointed DNR director a month ago, will attend the meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at Belleville High School, 501 West Columbia. At least three other top DNR officials are also expected to attend.

While a DNR official said that the visit exemplifies Skoog's interest in "good communication" between the department and the public Van Buren Township officials said they were upset by the short notice.

"I first heard about it Thursday from Rep. Mahalak," said Van Buren Township Clerk Delphine Dudick. "The DNR didn't even call me until Friday — less than a week's notice."

"I'd say this was very superficial notice," Dudick added. "But we've had a lot of frustration in dealing with those folks."

"You can't help but wonder why they don't give you more warning," said Township Trustee Marilyn Montgomery.

But Al Howard, chief of the DNR's technical services, praised the DNR boss's decision as indicative of the new director's "open-minded managerial style."

"He's very interested in building good communication between the department and the public," Howard said. "He's coming because he felt there was a lot of concern about this issue and he wanted to hear for himself what people had to say."

Howard said that the DNR gave "adequate notice" of the meeting, and was doing its best to publicize it.

"We have spots on the radio. And we sent a standard public notice to the newspaper," he said. "We also sent letters to everyone who filled out an attendance card at the public hearing in August."

Howard was referring to a highly emotional meeting at the Van Buren Township Hall on August 1. More than 150 persons attended, all strongly opposed to the amendment. Fears for their health and safety, as well as an increased risk of fire at the facility, were cited by different speakers.

The amendment would lower the flashpoint of acceptable waste from 140 degrees Fahrenheit to 90 degrees, allowing the toxic waste facility (on

An anniversary

On October 20, Romulus seniors and Wingate management celebrated an anniversary — their third — commemorating the Romulus Towers' construction. Seniors earn funds during the year thanks to bazaars and bake sales and with the proceeds host a catered dinner party which this year as always was well-attended. Among those who feasted were Wingate's owners Irvin Obisergarten, Leo Sklar and Harvey Wolf. Also invited were Mayor William Oakley, treasurer-seeking to-become mayor Beverly McAnally, and city clerk, Ray Cantrell.

Historic marker is unveiled at French Landing Dam site

Despite a light rainfall, approximately 65 persons attended the double ceremony to dedicate two State of Michigan Historic Site markers recently at the old Van Buren Township Hall on Main Street in Belleville.

The official marker for the French Landing Dam was unveiled and the text read by Donna Hall, Van Buren Township Treasurer.

Ms. Hall has been the driving force behind the movement to restore the dam. The Old Township Hall marker was unveiled by Patricia Cullin, past Van Buren Township Supervisor, whose administration was known for its historic preservation efforts.

Representative Edward E. Mahalak presented a Michigan flag to Van Buren Township Historian Cathy Horste as a memento of the occasion and leatherbound copies of "Water Under The Bridge - A History of Van Buren Township" were presented to Patricia Cullin, Kim Carlson, Connie Etter, Diane Wilson and Cathy Horste in recognition of their many contributions to area historic projects.

Charles V. Hagler of the Michigan Historical Commission, who formally presented the markers, noted that this was probably the first time in Michigan history where two markers had been received by a community and dedicated at the same time. Acting as historian, Mrs. Horste officially received the markers on behalf of the people of Van Buren Township.

A reception was held in the firehall after the ceremony, hosted by the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club.

The funds to pay for the markers were raised by joint efforts of the GFWC Belleville Junior Study Club and the Van Buren Township Historic District Study Commission.

Bike path awaits approval by County Road Commissioners

A new bike path for the city of Belleville may be completed by early November, depending on approval of construction plans by the Wayne County Road Commission.

"Our plans have been submitted, and we're waiting to hear from the Road Commission," Belleville City Manager Frank Pascarella told Belleville city council members at the October 17 general meeting.

The bike path (which could also be used as a walkway) would extend from Sumpter and Davis to South Junior High School. The path will be built with $6,200 in federal block grant money.

In addition to submitting final construction plans, the city is currently reviewing construction bids, Pascarella said.

While available to anyone, the path is expected to be most popular with junior high school students who live nearby. Since school buses won't pick up students living within a mile of the junior high, students now either walk or bike down the shoulder of Sumpter Road.

To build the approximately six feet wide path, workers must grade and cover with asphalt a side of Sumpter Road. The path should not take more than a few days to build, once approval is obtained, Pascarella said.

In an unrelated action, Pascarella informed the trustees that negotiations on a joint administration of Belleville's two jail cells were continuing with Van Buren and Sumpter Township.

"Hopefully, by the end of the month, we should get some decision on this," Pascarella said.

Lacking a joint agreement, Belleville is operating the recently opened cells on its own. The three communities have been negotiating for several months, with Van Buren Township — which pays the largest share of a three-community police dispatch system — declining to enter an agreement until various policy questions have been resolved.

In other actions at the meeting, the council:

Agreed, at the suggestion of Councilman Robert Tontalo, to compile a resolution honoring the soon-to-retire Mayor Justin Emerson. "A decade is a long time for him to give," Tontalo said.

Council members agreed to contribute a list of the mayor's accomplishments to be sent to Senator William Faust. Faust is planning to honor the mayor, who will step down from office in November, with a Senate resolution.

Approved Belleville's funding of $12,157 for the Fred C. Fischer Library. Belleville's share amounts to about 14 percent of the cost of operating the library, which is determined by user basis. (Sumpter's share is 23 percent, and Van Buren's is 61 percent.)

Thanks to a federal grant, Romulus has put a dozen persons to work clearing out the maze of city ditches. Those who were put on the payroll were jobless who had families and their unemployment benefits had run out.

$250,000 grant gets job done

Romulus cleans up ditches

Romulus has begun a year-long ditch-cleaning program with $250,000 in funds received Aug. 15 from a federal grant by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Twelve persons were hired, from numerous applications at $4.50 an hour for 40 hours a week to clear debris from drainage ditches located in residential areas.

The program, directed by David Paul, Director of the Department of Public Works, is geared to employ a 12-person crew throughout the year.

The cost of labor alone for the crew for the year will be $128,232.

In addition, a hydraulic ditching machine has been purchased with city funds and will be leased to HUD projects at $50 per hour, which means the city can clean the ditches with its own machine and charge the cost to the grant.

Pat Hogan, Community Development Director, said that priority was given to workers who had families and whose unemployment benefits had run out, in the selection of workers for the crew.

Profile of a Romulus school

Barth houses a lot of learning

Romulus' newest school, Barth Elementary lies on the southwestern fringe of the City.

The flat-topped building with its earth-bermed outside walls reflect the modern approach to architecture. Though windowless, one does not feel enclosed as an outdoor view can be seen from any direction when standing in the hallway.

For most of its eight year history, Ellis Stewart served as Barth's Principal. The original attendance area included students from the Oakbrooke Townshouses and those who attended the old Romulus Elementary School.

Although the school is somewhat remotely located, parents and students gave the building an air of busy-ness with the P.T.A., scouts, and band activities.

Former and present Board of Education members Evelyn Hopewell and JoAnn Marvicsin were an active part of Barth during its early years.

Present P.T.A. President Ruby Ursiny, has served in that capacity for the past four years.

When the Romulus school district began experiencing financial difficulties, two schools were closed. Their closing resulted in a shift of students throughout the district.

The Oakbrooke Townhouse children went to Merriman and 180 children transferred from Mt. Pleasant, which was one of the schools that closed.

Eugene Barr transferred from the other closed school,

Beverly Elementary, in September, 1982.

Present students are kindergartners through sixth graders who live in the southwest quarter and the downtown sections of Romulus.

Though most of the children travel away from their neighborhoods, they actively take part in the school's facilities, both during school and after hours.

Its wide halls, spacious rooms, library, gymnasium, cafeteria (auditorium and cafeteria combines) art and music rooms, and other amenities make a pleasant environment for learning and for playing.

EUGENE BARR

Fulbright scholar is school principal

Eugene Barr is one of the most experienced administrators in the Romulus educational community. He has served as principal of five elementary buildings (twice at Beverly) during his seventeen years in Romulus.

Barr, a former teacher and administrator in Detroit, has been in the field of education for the past thirty-four years.

He earned a Bachelor of Science degree at Wayne State, attended Central Michigan, Michigan State, and the University of Detroit. He received his masters degree at the University of Michigan. As a recipient of the Fulbright Award, Barr lived in Wales, Great Britain for a year and taught in an English school.

Barr was born and grew up in Detroit. He and his wife have two daughters, ages 25 and 22.

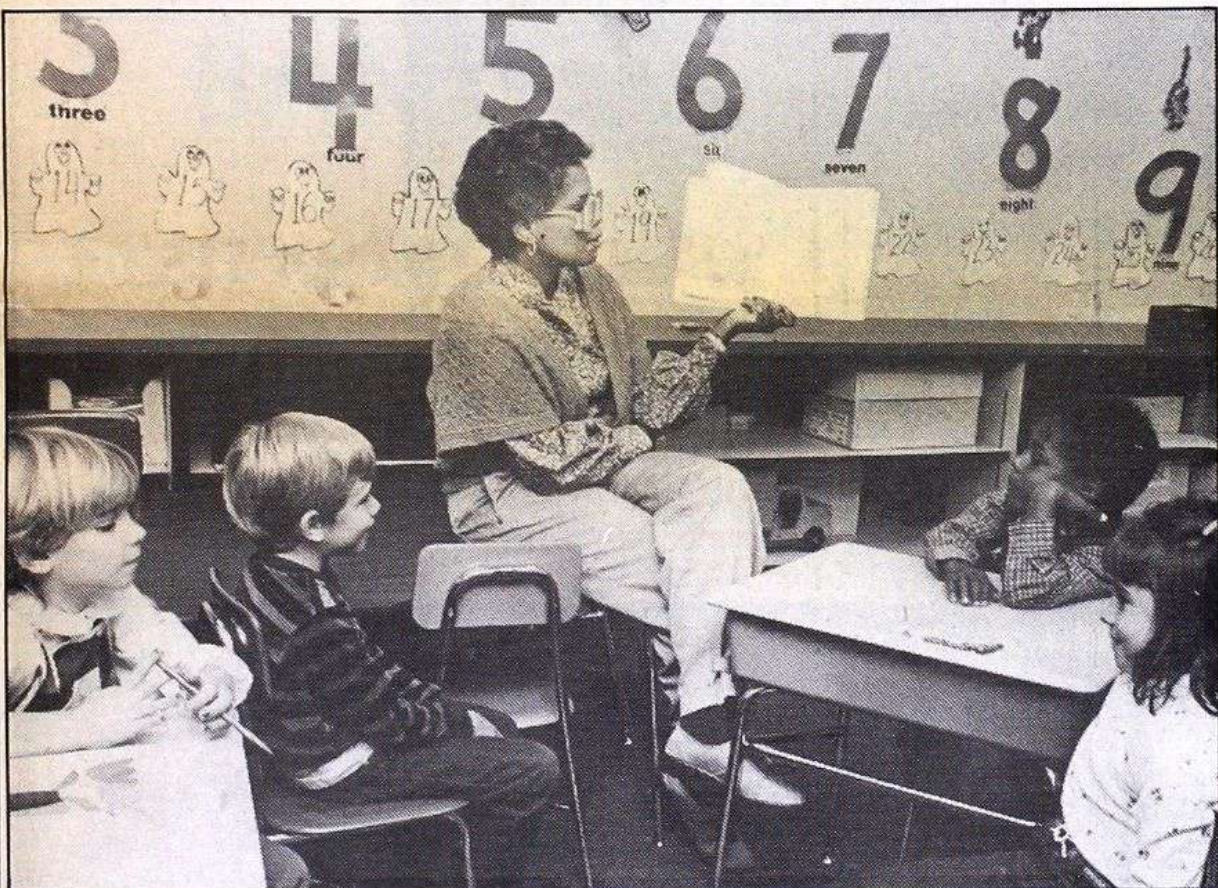

Favorite pastimes include hunting, fishing and most important, golf. Barr feels he is a very competitive person. "Anything I do, I do to win," states Barr. He is also an avid classical music fan.

His philosophy about education is that a teacher should start with his students at the level they are, then take them as far as they are capable of going.

"Then you must hope the next teacher will pick up and carry on where you stop," said Barr. His favorite areas of education are elementary and social education.

Barr feels that Romulus needs to enter into computer education, although he is not sure if it is a fad or a necessity for the future. Health and physical education is another important area, according to Barr. Students must have a proper outlet for physical energies! Music is very important, but the schools' libraries have a great need for more attention, he adds.

In this second year at Barth Elementary School, Barr would like to eliminate any remaining bad feelings about the closing of Mt. Pleasant School and make Barth home for all of its students. Pictured is Eugene Barr, Principal of Barth Elementary School.

"The statement which alleges that the city can pay the balance in three year time limit is correct. However, to do this, the city must utilize funds collected within the 10-mill limit, funds which would ordinarily go for other purposes, to repay money improperly transferred."

Mahalak concluded that he was pleased that the situation had been rectified, but he called it a "classic case of robbing Peter to pay Paul."

"It is the citizens of the City of Romulus who will bear the burden over the next four years," said Mahalak. "A burden created by those responsible for the initial improper transfer of funds."

Local banker saves state $$$

It started with a phone call to Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-Westland) and ended with a bill signing ceremony with Governor James Blanchard.

And because Duane "Doc" Mellinger, Vice President of Wayne Bank, took the time to get involved in government, the state will save about $4,400 annually, banks will save a lot of time and a considerable amount of red tape has been eliminated.

What Mellinger did was suggest a change in an outdated state law that required Michigan banks to file semi-annual reports on their financial condition with the State Financial Institutions Bureau (FIB).

The semi-annual reports are very similar to reports that the banks are required to file with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

And, since the information from the FDIC reports is available to the state by computer, the Department of Commerce was essentially wasting time and money requiring the banks to submit virtually the same reports to the FIB.

"I was pleased to submit Doc Mellinger's suggestion in bill form and to help get that legislation passed," Faust said. He explained that the new law (Public Act 94 of 1983) amended the banking code and eliminated the requirement that banks file the semi-annual reports with the FIB. "The commissioner of the FIB still has the authority to require special reports to be submitted at any time to learn of a bank's condition. A bank would have 30 days to respond," Faust added.

Local banker Duane "Doc" Mellinger looks on as Governor James Blanchard signs into law a new rule that would update about $4,400 annually.

"The most important thing," Faust said, "is that the passage of this bill has reduced the regulatory burden on state-chartered banks and saved the state about $4,400 in postage, forms and printing costs. That's a pretty impressive contribution for any citizen to make and I'm certain that all of Doc's many friends are proud of him."

Callaghan gets labor award

Wayne County Community College Labor Relations Director, Dr. Edward Callaghan, was awarded the prestigious Dudley Sherman Award at the Michigan Public Employer Labor Relations Association (MPELRA) annual convention.

The Dudley Sherman Award is made periodically by MPELRA to individuals who have made significant contributions to public sector labor relations in Michigan. Dudley Sherman, a retired labor relations pioneer in his 40 years as Personnel Director for the City of Dearborn contributed much to the field of labor relations.

He has also served on the education program committee of MPELRA and is a past president of the organization.

Dr. Callaghan received his Bachelor's degree from the University of Detroit; his Masters in Business Administration from Wayne State University and his Doctorate from the University of Michigan.

He previously served as Personnel Director of the City of Madison Heights and was a member of the Business Faculty at Mercy College of Detroit.

Carrier of Week

Some things never change...for instance, the secret to Daniel Ford's success is the same used by wise merchants and businessmen for years...The customer is always right.

That belief, claims Daniel, is the reason he has kept the 63 customers on his Westland Eagle route happy and satisfied with his service. He has been delivering papers for three years now, and was chosen this week as the Carrier of the Week by the Circulation Department at Associated Newspapers.

Daniel, 13, is the son of Earl and Judy Ford of Bayview Street in Westland. He is an eighth grade student at Marshall Junior High School and pursues only one real hobby, golf. "I really like to play golf. I play a lot with a friend and it's something I enjoy. I taught myself," he confided.

The honored carrier will be attending college, he said, but he hasn't decided just where yet. He hopes to pursue a career utilizing mathematics, his favorite subject at school.

Daniel took over the present Westland route from one of his two brothers, and really enjoys it, he said. He tries, he explained, to always be nice to the customers and to remember, "they are always right...even if maybe they aren't."

"I just try to be nice to all my customers and give good service," Daniel said. "I know most of them pretty well and we're kind of friends."

His favorite thing about the route?...The Christmas tips. I sure like getting those," he confided with a smile.

Carriers of the Week will be selected by the Associated News-

Dear Romulus Voter...

I have made the decision to seek the Office of City Clerk because I believe the citizens of the City of Romulus are entitled to a competent, qualified and capable candidate.

As an employee in the Clerk's Office for many years, I began my career in an entry level position, and progressed to Deputy City Clerk, a position I held for four years.

Having held all positions in the office, and subsequent completion of training as a Professional Municipal Clerk at Syracuse University, I have a thorough knowledge of the responsibilities of the office, and possess a solid background as a City Clerk.

The City Clerk's Office is an intricate and complex structure, that requires much more than simple managerial ability. The experience and knowledge needed to be a GOOD City Clerk is not something automatically received by virtue of being elected. It is acquired through years of hard work, dedication and determination. I have completed my apprenticeship.

our opinions

It's scary

Watch those Halloween treats

Halloween has traditionally been the holiday for "fear and fright."

Ghosts and goblins are supposed to roam the earth, and the evil spirits rule the world for one night.

During the last few years, the good-natured holiday of horror has taken a more gruesome turn.

After last year's Tylenol tragedy in Chicago, Halloween almost disappeared from our list of annual celebrations.

Parents feared the treats the youngsters brought home could be tainted or tampered with.

Halloween can, and should continue, but caution needs to be exercised by everyone involved.

First of all, motorists who intend to be on the road Monday evening should exercise extra care. Those little demons dressed up in their costumes can have trouble seeing through a mask, and sometimes, just the excitement of the night causes them to forget about looking both ways.

Be careful.

Don't go "trick-or-treating" in strange neighborhoods.

Youngsters and parents also should take steps to ensure a safe celebration. Children should stay away from darkened houses, and should only visit those that have porch lights, and lighted pumpkins beckoning as welcome signs.

Foremost, take a good look at the loot after it has been collected. Inspect all treats for foreign substances, and discard any that have been opened.

Take advantage of the metal detectors that police departments in the area will be using for inspection of treats.

Halloween should be fun and enjoyable for all involved. With a few simple precautions, it can continue to be just that.

Wise move

Who needed superintendent?

The Canton Township trustees acted wisely in voting against a superintendent form of government, a move that would threaten one of the most refreshing aspects of Canton's present government — its accessibility to the public.

Had the plan been adopted, board members would have sought and hired a professional manager or superintendent to oversee daily township operations, beginning next year.

The idea of hiring a highly trained professional for this purpose is ideal — in theory.

Realistically speaking, though, who is this "professional expert", this knight in shining armor who will bring answers to Canton?

A study of other communities which have adopted and then abandoned the superintendent form, or have experienced a succession of hirings and firings of individual managers suggests that the level of expertise sought by boards hasn't always materialized.

As a non-elected official, the superintendent's first allegiance is not directly to the public, but to the board members (at least a majority of four) who hired him — a situation which removes an important link in the chain that stretches between an official and the people he or she serves.

A homeowner with a pressing concern may have difficulty contacting board members who hold down full-time jobs elsewhere. And chances are that the elected supervisor, whose position would have been reduced to part time, won't be in either. The superintendent, a person no taxpayer had the opportunity to elect, nor the elected power to remove, is the person to see.

This situation would also diminish the relationship that exists now between the public and its board, which may be tempted to vote in accordance with even unpopular recommendations made by a superintendent. After all, the taxpayers are paying a lot of money for that advice.

During the superintendent debate, some trustees said that more professional services would be gained by appointment than by the elective process, which some called "risky" and "a lottery system."

This argument, coming from board members who were elected themselves and were trying to convince us that they possess the wisdom to change Canton's form of government, is amusing.

The election process isn't perfect — it's just the best vehicle this country has for obtaining representation of the majority. Perhaps, rather than abandoning the process by replacing elected officials with appointees, more effort in voter education should be taken to insure that voters' decisions are informed.

The recent superintendent discussion shows that Canton Township voters have succeeded in electing trustees who care. We're glad these representatives recognize the need to raise the level of professionalism in the community, and we applaud their efforts to do so. There is room for improvement and we would like to see this occur — within the parameters of the township's present form of government.

Sewer debt pay-back will cost Romulus residents

The Associated Newspapers' Romulus Roman edition carried a story entitled, "City Approves Plan for Sewer Debt Pay-Back." The article contained what I believe to be several vague and extremely misleading comments, and also, because of the rumors and misleading statements made by many individuals here in Romulus, I would like to attempt to clarify.

Specifically, I refer to the following statements:

1. "The audit, completed in October, 1982, determined that there had been irregularities, not of a serious legal nature, regarding the handling of money which had been raised from a levy intended for Water and Sewer Debt Retirement Fund."

2. "Consulting Attorney Robert Hammell made the presentation at the council meeting, outlining the Attorney General's proposal for paying the debt."

3. "This would leave a balance of $145,996 which can be paid in a three year time limit without additional levy over the 10-mill charter limit through fiscal year 1986-87."

The facts of the matter are that in 1981 in my capacity as your State Representative and in response to the request of the Romulus City Council, I requested that the State Treasurer conduct an audit of the financial records of the City of Romulus.

Every citizen in the city should know that the Department of Treasury, by audit dated October 29, 1982, determined that $2,126,536.82 of Debt Service Fund money for water and sewer bonds had been improperly transferred and expended as of June 20, 1981.

At that time, as is the customary procedure, the audit was referred to the Attorney General for evaluation.

Again, acting in my capacity as the State Representative for this area, I arranged and attended numerous meetings between the Department of Treasury, the Attorney General and the City of Romulus in an effort to reach some mutual agreement for resolution of this problem.

After several meetings, the figure mentioned above ($2,126,536.82), was subsequently adjusted by agreement of the Department of Treasury, the Attorney General and the City of Romulus. The agreement was to subtract actual cash balances and taxes receivable as of June 30, 1981. Thus the new total amount to be repaid to the Water-Sewer Debt Service Fund was $1,825,927.

That figure was further adjusted as of June 30, 1982, to take into account amounts repaid to the fund during the 1981-82 fiscal year. With the adjustment, the city still needed to repay $1,725,326 to the Debt Service Fund for water and sewer bonds which had been improperly transferred.

Thus, in response to the first quote outlined above, I would agree that there has been irregularities uncovered by the audit. Further, while I admit that each individual would gauge the question in an entirely subjective manner, I believe that most citizens of the City of Romulus would feel that the improper transfer of $2 million did constitute a problem of a "serious legal nature."

Secondly, the presentation made by Mr. Hammell concerning the proposal for repayment was not the Attorney General's proposal. Rather, the proposal was the result of numerous meetings called at my insistence between the Department of Treasury, the Attorney General, the City of Romulus and representatives of the Municipal Finance Commission to assist the city in developing a proposal for repayment.

I am pleased to report that by and large the participants in these meetings were genuinely concerned with resolving this very serious problem in the most responsible way possible.

Finally, I am appalled by the statement that the city has a balance of $145,996 which can be paid in a three year time limit without additional levy over the 10-mill charter limit. The actual state of affairs is that the City of Romulus must generate, starting July 1, 1983, $888,518 over the next four years to repay funds which were improperly transferred from the Water-Sewer Debt Service Fund.

This means that from the general operating taxes which are to be levied for fiscal years 1984-85, 1985-86 and 1986-87, the city must set aside sufficient funds to meet the debt service on the sewer bonds in 1983-84 and the water bonds due during the remainder of the period.

In addition to making this repayment, the city is also required to fully fund the Water Debt Service Reserve within its current fiscal year ending June 20, 1984.

Thus, the statement above which alleges that the city can pay the balance in three year time limit is correct. However, to do this, the city must utilize funds collected within the 10-mill limit, funds which would ordinarily go for other purposes, to repay the money which was improperly transferred from the Water-Sewer Debt Service Fund.

It should be noted that, as a condition in the approval of the plan by the Municipal Finance Commission showing its current conformity with the plan as well as certifying that all debt service payments on its water and sewer bonds are current and were made timely until such time as the plan has been completed in total.

In conclusion, I am pleased that the situation has been rectified, but I would be remiss in my duties if I did not also point out that this is a classic example of "robbing Peter to pay Paul" and it is the citizens of the City of Romulus who will bear the burden over the next four years, a burden created by those responsible for the initial improper transfer of funds.

EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative

What was it 10? 15? or 20 years ago when it first happened?

Time seems to slip by so quickly after a certain age. Or is it because we're having so much fun?

But time is irrelevant and so are the people involved.

What happened, however, remains carved deep in our mind. Like so many things that don't fade with years.

The audience was standing around the news room, waiting for something to break. And, that particular evening, Halloween, none of us were too anxious to go home and pass out treats.

We preferred the inner sanctum of the news room.

Then, one of the reporters said: "Hey, look at this story coming over the wire. Some kid in Redford Township found a razor in an apple. What sicko would do a thing like that?"

Before the night was over, however, most of us learned that there were a lot of "sickos" out there and more than two dozen "spiked treats", as they became to be called, popped up in that township.

Other communities also began to report metal and foreign objects in treats handed out to kids.

The panic was on.

Few of the people involved in spiking those treats were ever brought to justice. One or two isolated cases hit the front pages.

And, each year since that initial report, some community and city have at least one report about someone jamming something into a treat.

That brings us to our annual warning: If the kids are going trick-or-treating Monday night, make sure they stick in the neighborhoods where they're known. That small treat isn't worth the pain it could bring. And don't eat treats until they're closely inspected.

I know. I have interviewed people "who thought" the candy was all right, but that "powdery substance" happened to be "angel dust."

Some may feel that the endless vigil just isn't worth it — that what will be will be.

In many communities, the Jaycees and McDonald Restaurants, in cooperation with the local police departments, have set up stations where metal detectors are available. Children and parents are encouraged to bring in the treats and have them inspected by those who are trained.

There are times when it pays to be extra-cautious, and Halloween is one of them.

Someday the time will come when parents and children won't have to worry about those who are psychologically and mentally ill — that medicine or science will have found a cure to solve these problems.

However, we believe that time is still well beyond our times.

Have a happy and safe Halloween.

Radical view of the ERA

EDITOR — Since the Equal Rights Amendment has recently been reintroduced in Congress, this is a pertinent time to review the resolutions and policy statements of some of the leading ERA proponents.

"Equal rights" has a lovely ring to it; what could be better? But wait, how would passage of the ERA affect our lives and our future? Do we really want a unisex society? Does everyone realize just what this would entail?

Do most people want untrained abortions, unisex locker rooms/restrooms, drafting of women, legal lesbian/homosexual marriages?

Let's take a closer look at some of the policies and goals of the leading pro-ERA organization, the National Organization for Women (NOW): At its October 9, 1982, national convention in Indianapolis, NOW passed resolutions that spell out its radical agenda.

The 1982 NOW Convention voted to make Lesbian Rights the organization's No. 1 resolution and then passed the Lesbian Rights Resolution, the Reproductive Rights Resolution, the Insurance Resolution, and the Feminist Consciousness Raising Resolution.

NOW actively supports homosexual/lesbian rights laws at the national, state, and local levels, which would give them the right to teach in private schools and to adopt children.

NOW supports the Legal Services Corporation's continued use of our tax dollars in cases promoting, defending, or protecting homosexuality. The NOW Legal Defense & Education Fund received $435,858 in federal tax funds from the Department of Education through its women's Educational Equity program. (Grant # G008006385 for $330,281 on June 30, 1981, and Grant # G008103968 for $105,577 on Sept. 18, 1981.)

This lesbian rights issue is a "hot potato" and legislators are reluctant to address it, but the general public has a right to know why one vocal group is promoting the ERA.

Another view of the billboard

EDITOR — There were some Romulus teachers, including myself, who opposed the construction of the billboard to which The Associated Newspapers' Romulus Roman edition editorial, the "Apple and a Screw" (October 12) referred to.

However, billboard or no billboard, it does not seem likely the proposed 6-mill increase will pass. A millage has not passed in this school district in quite some time.

These are the same voters who several times rejected 1 mill which was to be used to remove cancer-causing asbestos from their children's classrooms.

To suggest that the billboard is the reason why the 6-mill increase will fail is sheer nonsense.

The implication that rolling back the teachers' salaries by 22 percent bothered the school board members is also pretty funny. Please publish the names of the board members who would like to honor our contract or give us a nice fat raise.

The most terrible implication in the Meridian column was that the Romulus teachers, instead of lamenting the present situation, should do something 'positive'. I want you to get a calculator out and knock 22 percent off of your paycheck. Don't just think about it, do it right now.

Figure it out to the penny. We are not, as you suggest, talking about small change here, Mr. Mooradian, we are talking about 22 percent.

Romulus' teachers have been hurt badly. Many, whom I respect as good teachers, are seeking employment elsewhere. The children of a Romulus teacher with four kids, a Masters degree, and 9 years experience could qualify for the federally subsidized reduced school lunch program.

Still, unlike the teachers in Canton, who have less to complain about, we are on the job. Under the circumstances, do you not think this fact in itself is positive? I think it is absolute proof that we care a great deal about the kids in our schools.

To blame the lowest paid teachers in Wayne County for the financial problems of this school districts is sensational, unprofessional, and cheap.

Outraged by Princess Daisy

EDITOR — I am outraged to know NBC plans to air the mini-series "Princess Daisy" in November. Central plots of this book contain instances of incest, lesbianism, adultery and child molesting.

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"I had been so immersed in my studies, I hadn't heard a thing," he told me. "I called an ambulance and we rushed my mother to the hospital where she is coming along fine. It seems she tripped on the stairs and fell to the bottom before she had a chance to turn on the light. I don't know how long she was there, but my father knew she needed help. So he came and got me.

"If anyone had told me such a story a few weeks ago I would have thought he was freaked out, but I know what happened to me, and I know that it was through the efforts of my father, that my mother didn't die down there at the bottom of those steps, with me upstairs, not too far away."

a settled, safe and friendly neighborhood. So how is it possible, I wonder, after all these years, that any one of us would give in to nameless fears and suspect our friends and neighbors of tainting children's candy?

This year, our kids will be out there again, yelling "Trick or treat!" We will be with them, smiling and saying "hello" to our neighbors. Our kids will be giggly-scared and eager to fill their bags. They will last for an hour or so and then complain that their feet hurt or their costumes itch or their noses are running and they'll race home to "pig out" on non-lethal goodies.

We will be cautious, as we've always been, but we won't give in. And if the streets are empty again, except for our small band of die-hards, I will mourn the loss of a pocket of innocence — a children's hour — the victim, again, or a world gone mad.

Parents today have a hard enough time teaching their families proper moral values without having to fight the bad example of TV at the same time.

I am contacting three of the top TV advertisers in the country. I am voicing my concern over this program. And I am asking them not to sponsor Princess Daisy.

Please put more suitable, constructive family shows on NBC. Thank you.

State lauds Robichaud High

EDITOR — On October 13, I had the good fortune of working with 150 Robichaud High School students. The event was the Robichaud High School Student Leadership Forum.

The purpose of the Forum was to give students an opportunity to express their educational concerns and recommendations to local and state education officials.

I would like the students, faculty, administration, and community members of the Westland School District to know how much I enjoyed working with these young people. They were an attentive, personable, and articulate group of young adults.

BABES puppet show is great

EDITOR — I wish to publicly thank the following Head Start parents and staff for participating in the BABES puppet show at Westland Mall on October 12, 1983.

The puppet show was part of the Family-O-Rama sponsored by the Out Wayne County Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect.

Thanks to: Wilma Butler, Kathy Darnell, Sue Dickinson, Anna MacDougall, Michael Lee and Sheryl Reames.

More on the billboard

EDITOR — The privacy of my home has been violated, my classroom broken into. Students have yelled obscenities at me while I work in the yard, and more than once my rest has been interrupted by early morning prank phone calls.

All this, while my own community feels it is O.K. to cut my pay by 22 percent without my consent!

Field trips, extra texts, classroom computers, $40,000 copiers, a new phone system, extra administrators, and extra-curricular activities; all these educational frills apparently take precedence over my standard of living.

A bond issue recently passed, the asbestos has been replaced, the transportation and security personnel have commercial radios, and the short sighted superintendent has his retirement paid.

All the priorities are somewhere else, not on my well-being. Do I sound selfish? Sorry... I feel the 22 percent pay cut pinch.

And then I read that I am not involved in the community. Thanks!

Praise for OMNICOM

EDITOR — In the past I have been quick to be critical of Omnicom Cablevision and will continue to be when, in my opinion, it is required.

In this instance, however, I would like to compliment and congratulate Ms. Suzanne Skubick, in particular, and the members of her Programming Department. The quality of local-origination programming has increased to the point it no longer resembles what was being done as short a time as a year ago.

The menu has expanded and the actual technical quality has increased beyond words. On Tuesday, October 11, even the technical quality of the cable picture itself was beyond anything I had ever seen from them before. I actually watched the Octoberfest and the Plymouth-Canton Employee Coalition Forum on Channel 15 without being distracted by poor cable transmission.

Ms. Skubick has her act together; engineering seems to be working on issues. Maybe there is still hope.

A change in administrators?

EDITOR — As a resident of Taylor and one who is genuinely interested in a sound school system, I have been watching the Romulus situation with great concern.

It appears that Romulus is experiencing some of the same difficulties that Taylor did a few years ago. We found ourselves with millage problems and administrators, who had difficulty establishing a working relationship with the teachers.

We finally just got tired of problems that failed to be solved and chose to solve them ourselves.

Since it was much simpler and took much less time, we released the administrators.

After all, it doesn't take much time or expense to hire a few administrators as opposed to an entire staff of teachers.

Autumn

*The trees of autumn are in bloom
With colors brightly mixed.
Let's tarry in the woodland
As nature plays her tricks.
You cannot help but feel
The enchantment everywhere.
While breezes vibrate each leaf
To tantalize your stare.
The sunlight's piercing rays,
Seem to hypnotize.
Lighting all that once was green
Right before your eyes.
The red and orange leaves
Like feathers, flutter down.
A million tinted butterflies
Gathered on the ground.
It's no longer any mystery
For having such a season.
Nature's stage within the wood
Gives fascinating reason.
Majestic royal colors
In the autumn of the year,
Is summer's final curtain
As the winter snows appear.*

Father called me

One of the things that fascinates me as I write and lecture psychic phenomena is how few people who are into it now realize that the sciences of psychology and parapsychology were once intimately connected.

Great pioneers as Freud, Jung, and William James did valuable work on extrasensory perception, and it seems sad to me that much of that early work is greatly ignored by those investigating the psychic world today.

William James did a great deal of research on survival and it is interesting that this great thinker of the 1800s believed that there was scientific evidence of immortality.

And although his work on immortality had not been read by the young scientist who called me to tell of his experience, I found that knowledge of that work helped the scientist to accept what had happened to him a few days before.

He had been sitting in his bedroom studying, thinking of nothing but the contents of the book he was reading, when a slight movement across the room caught his eye. He glanced up and saw a brilliant white streak, which slowly molded itself into a form. As he watched he found himself becoming fearful, and he would have leaped from the room, except the only way out would have been through that light.

"I've been studying too hard," he told himself, but he couldn't relax, for the form was becoming identifiable.

"It's my father," the young scientist said. His father had been dead for several years, and while he had mourned his passing, still he had not been thinking of him that evening while studying.

***

"Father?" he asked as the form came toward him, arm outstretched and a smile on his face. The form nodded and came nearer.

"Do you want to tell me something?" the young man asked. The father smiled and beckoned and then turned toward the door. The scientist stood up and followed, marvelling at how easily he was accepting the fact that the form was indeed his father.

They walked through the hall, the father ahead, and the scientist a few steps behind. Down the stairs they walked, through the dining room and the kitchen and to the basement stairs. The father pointed down and the young man looked through the darkness to the basement.

He saw nothing, but the father continued to point down and he turned and flipped on the switch, flooding the basement in light. There crumpled on the floor at the foot of the stairs was his mother, unconscious with blood flowing from a gash on her head.

The real Halloween ghosts

I wonder if kids realize that, relatively speaking, it's not as much fun being a kid these days.

When a kid says, "I'm pretty sure the world's gonna blow up before I get to be a grown-up," there's a residue of heaviness in that heart. Not much room left for unadulterated fun.

And when a kid says, "I'll just die if I don't get Jordache jeans," there's a kid who gave up being a kid for being a little adult.

Kids are being short-changed all over the place today. Kids can't be kids. Everybody wants them to think and act and look like adults — even the adults who think and act and look, for all the world, like kids.

It's too bad kids can't be kids — and adults can't be adults. It's too bad it's not acceptable (or even safe) for kids to just go off and do "who knows what" (as our parents used to call it).

"Who knows what" took in any number of things: Lying on our backs finding faces in the clouds...sailing leaves down a stream...making flower ladies out of hollyhocks...pretending colonies of marching ants were Roman legions...

We could do these things alone or with another kid — and without an adult hovering over us to make sure that what we were doing was "constructive" or educational.

I hadn't realized until lately what an absolute luxury that was. After our chores were finished and our homework was done, we were allowed, by parents who had no idea what a grand gift they were giving us, hours and hours of "free time".

We weren't chained to a television schedule or to computer games or to organized play (except what we organized ourselves). Once our daily obligations were over with, our parents stayed out of our lives. We were free to tinker and to putter and to let our imaginations soar in books or movies or in uncluttered daydreams.

We were even allowed the innocent good times of Halloween. "Help the Poor!", we said, and if somebody invited us in from the cold for a cup of hot chocolate (as people often did), this was our neighborhood, after all, and we accepted eagerly, without questioning the motives of the giver.

The specter of witches and ghosts and monsters "scared" us in a giggly sort of way, but we were never afraid. There was nothing to be afraid of.

Now there are razors in every apple and pins in every chocolate bar and lethal drugs injected into every penny candy. Or so our paranoia suggests.

Police stations are equipped, on Halloween night, with metal detectors. We are warned to inspect carefully every piece of candy.

The media blast us with warnings for weeks before the actual event about neighbors who might attempt to do damage to our children.

The result, last year, was that on Halloween, with the exception of a small band of children (ours and our immediate neighbors), the sidewalks in our neighborhood were nearly empty. Four trick-or-treaters came to our door last year.

We have lived in that neighborhood for over 20 years. It is

Area Code (517) 973-2575

Ms. Beverly McAnally, Treasurer
City of Romulus
1111 Wayne Road
Romulus, Michigan
Dear Bev:
As an elected Councilperson and Treasurer for the City of Romulus, you have dedicated yourself to the improvement and betterment of the residents and property owners of this City.
I want you to know that I support your candidacy for the Office of Mayor.
Those things which you have done included working for a balanced budget and sound accounting practices. You have developed outstanding investment techniques and collected many delinquent city accounts, thus providing additional revenues to eliminate budget deficit and begin the Romulus Police Department.
Although you had no blame in creating the problem, and had put an end to the improper practices, you assisted in dealing with the serious financial problem Romulus faces because of the state audit and the prior irregularities and misuse of tax dollars intended for the Water/Sewer Debt Fund.
You have always cooperated fully while others only gave lip service. I look forward to your leadership as Mayor and the progress that will occur under your administration to the benefit of our community.
You have my wholehearted support and may use this letter of endorsement in any way you wish.
Best Wishes,

10-year wait ends

DAVID BOWIE
"Ziggy Stardust-The Motion Picture"
(RCA)

It's hard to believe, but after a wait of 10 years, the Bowie-as-Ziggy live LP has finally been released. After hearing about postponement after postponement, about how Bowie had decided he didn't want the album (or the concert film) out since he "was off to new areas now," about how he was remixing it for the umpteenth time, after all of that, Bowiephiles the world over will be dancing in the streets (to "Moonage Daydream," no doubt) with the release of "Ziggy Stardust-The Motion Picture."

You may have guessed by now (duh!) that I'm an old Bowie fan; as a matter of fact, ask me what my favorite album is and you'll hear "Ziggy Stardust," which was released in 1972 (I'm on my 5th copy).

But being a fan and waiting a decade for this LP, it makes it harder for it to "make the grade," so to speak, than it would for the average fan off the street. It does though. About a B+.

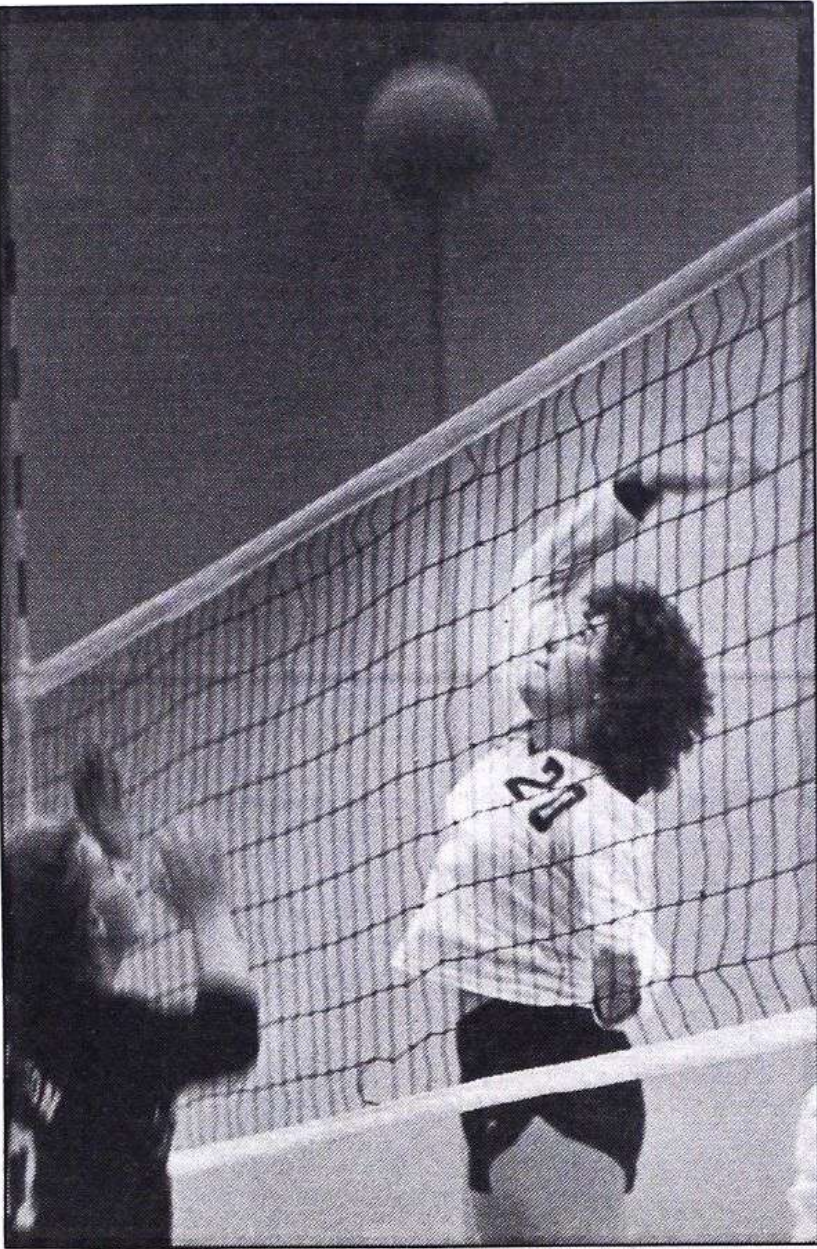

Since portions of this concert were originally shown on American television (the old "In Concert" series), bootlegs of the performances have arisen through the years, but RCA and Bowie turned that tide by including the cuts here that were left off the TV show and hence, off of the bootleg albums.

And what songs! We get to hear Bowie and guitarist Mick Ronson's blistering version of the Velvet Underground's classic "White Light/White Heat," as well as Bowie's interpretation of Jacques Brel's "My Death," electric versions of "Watch That Man," "Cracked Actor," and the Stones' "Let's Spend the Night Together," the studio tracks of which are on the "Aladdin Sane" LP. Mick Ronson's brilliant, albeit rambling solo on "The Width of the Circle," which was heavily edited for television, is also found intact here.

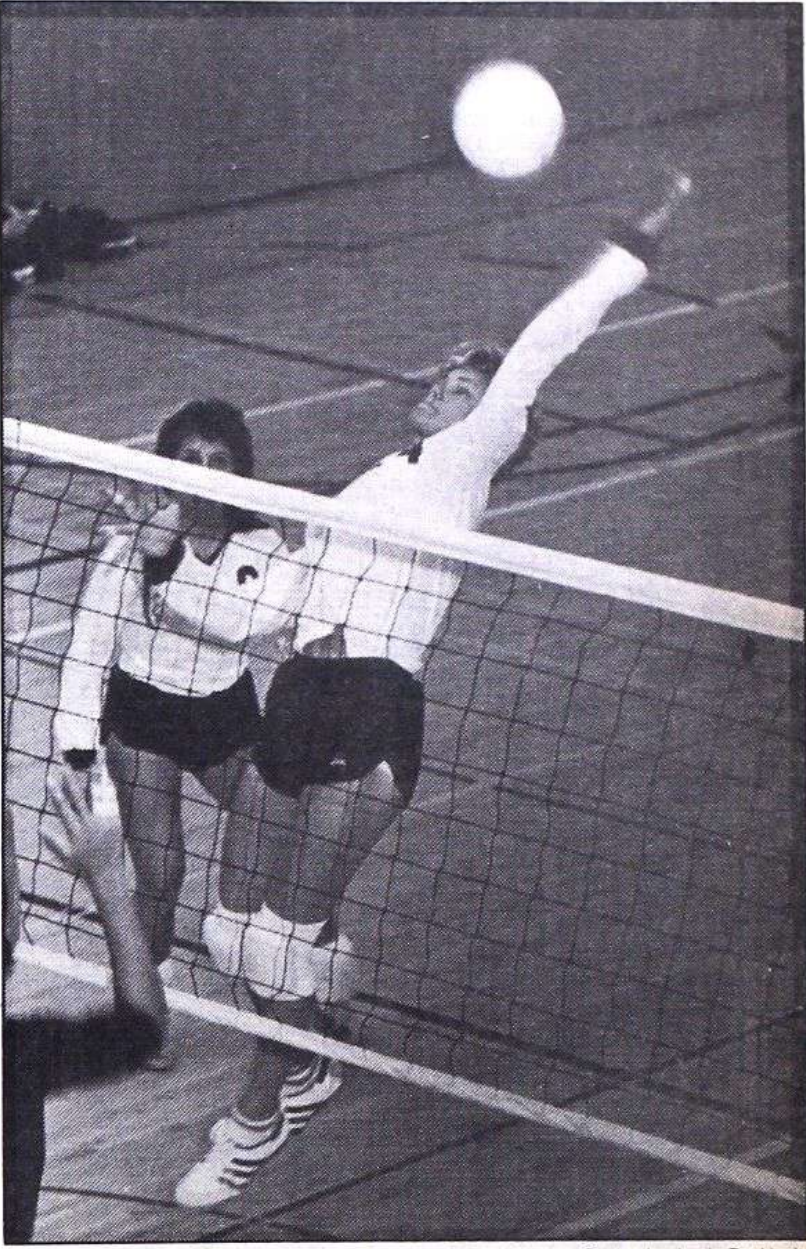

Other Bowie favorites included here are "Hang On To Yourself," "Changes," "Space Oddity," and of course "Sufragette City," which was Bowie's signature tune at the time. Missing is the Ronson-Jeff Beck guitar duet on "Jean Genie," which can be found on the boots.

Not missing though, is the heart-wrenching groan and cries of horror that go up from the crowd as David announced that Ziggy was, indeed, breaking up the band. "Not only is this the last show of the tour," says a seemingly upbeat Bowie, "but it's the last show we'll ever do. Thank you." I still remember the faces on the TV screen as the cameras panned the crowd, of boys and girls alike crying their eyes out, while the band played their last number together.

The song? It was, of course, "Rock 'N' Roll Suicide," and it's included on the album. No wonder he became an actor — Hollywood couldn't have written a better farewell.

Cockrum served 11 aces during a recent victory over Delta College while Boyd contributed 14 spikes at the net and Chapo eight. In a win over Macomb Community College Cardin produced six spikes, four blocks and eight serving aces and Chapo added eight spikes. The Hawks are 11-13 overall. # cable beat

... by dennis fassett

Four years ago, in the City of Westland, a unique plan was developed which might have resulted in citizen ownership of the community's cable television system. Except for fear of the unknown, and petty politics, today Westland would own and be operating its CATV system with all of the profits going back into the city.

And while the CATV industry rejoiced in the defeat of the issue, self-righteous politicians and citizens turned to other interests never fully understanding what they had just lost.

Unlike the small California town which fought the CATV industry's overt attempts to kill municipal ownership of cable, Westland fell victim to misinformation and half-truths which spawned the fire of distrust.

In 1979, Westland Mayor Thomas Taylor wanted to bring cable to the city. But the mayor hoped he could provide more than just home entertainment for residents.

Following several tragic home fires where children were burned to death, the mayor conceived of a plan to utilize a cable television system to provide early advance warning of home fires.

Following an extensive investigation of cable and its applications, Taylor learned of a community in Texas where all homes were wired to provide home fire and smoke detectors monitored by the local fire department.

Citing the impressive fire statistics compiled by the Woodlands in Texas, Taylor authored a plan where the city would build, own, and operate its cable system with a duplicated Woodlands fire protection system.

Quickly supported by the media, local clubs, fire officials, police, and community leaders, Taylor's plan was given national news exposure as in innovative and effective method of providing improved fire and police protection while also providing residents with conventional cable television programming.

Because cable systems are expensive, all CATV companies rely on external financing to build systems, but cable lenders would not consider loaning money for cable system construction to Westland... the city was not a cable company. Faced with the first obstacle, Taylor and the city developed a creative financing system whereby the city would lease the system from a finance company. A cable company would be hired to operate and manage the system until it was paid for.

With the financing question resolved, the city was ready to start on the road to bringing cable to the city... but there was one more thing the mayor wanted to do.

According to law, the city's cable plan could be effected without the adoption of a cable ordinance, but the mayor insisted that such an ordinance be approved prior to beginning the system.

Throughout the planning for the Westland cable system, a few detractors, not understanding the proposal, feared that a city cable system would be threatening to residents (one of the points the CATV industry made in California). Because of the concern, adoption of an ordinance would allow further cable discussion, as well as an opportunity for citizens to vote on the question if they wished.

With the final adoption of the cable ordinance approved by a 6-1 council vote, it appeared that Westland would soon be on its way to

State police set annual auction date

Bargain hunters and auction fans will have a field day when the State Police hold their annual fall auction Thursday, Nov. 3 in the National Guard armory at 2500 S. Washington in Lansing.

Beginning at 9 a.m., buyers can bid on color tvs, am-fm radios, power tools, watches, calculators, typewriters, a telephone answering machine, more than 114 rifles and shotguns, and several hundred other items. For those in need of transportation, a mini-bike, 20 bicycles and a motorcycle will be auctioned. There's even a helmet and trophy for the motorcycle enthusiast.

Copies of the auction list will be available for viewing at the sale.

Cash or checks with proper Michigan identification will be accepted. Profits are turned over to the State Treasury. The spring auction held last May grossed nearly $16,000.

The auction is authorized by law to dispose of articles that have been confiscated by law enforcement agencies, items lost or abandoned at state parks and beaches or whose owners could not be located, and the personal effects of persons who died in state institutions without leaving heirs. The sales have been held annually since 1954.

Sales details are handled by the State Police Business Administration. Auctioneers will be William and Steven Stanton of Vermontville.

Politics kill plan in Westland

building a municipal system which promised to improve police and fire protection, while pumping nearly $7 million annually into the city treasury.

But politics soon put a damper on city plans.

Please give blood!

People who care about their friends care enough to be blood donors. A Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be at the Belleville High School Auditorium Monday, Oct. 31 — Halloween Day — from 2 to 7:45 p.m. This is the annual Belleville Community drive sponsored by the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Organization.

Plan to join your friends and give. Since blood can not be manufactured, it must come from people — people like you and me. If you are between the ages of 17 and 66, in good health and weigh at least 110 pounds, then you are probably an eligible donor.

The BPW asks for the community's wholehearted support!

Remember, the Red Cross doesn't need Blood — people do!!

New on the scene

Joseph Thomas Hilt

Joseph Thomas was the name chosen for the new son born Oct. 6 to Joseph and Debbie Hilt of 18218 Middlebelt Road in Huron Township.

The 7 lb.-11 oz. heir arrived at 7:22 a.m. at Seaway Hospital in Trenton where his length was listed as 20 inches.

He is the new baby brother of Joy Suzanne Hilt who's 2½ years old and the grandson of Betty Lambert of Detroit and Pearl Hilt of Kentucky.

The children's mother is the former Debbie Palmisano.

Jennifer Marie Staffeld

They're "thinking pink" these colorful fall days at the home of Douglas and Janet Staffeld of 41275 Riggs Road, Belleville, and the reason is their first-born child, a baby daughter.

Making her debut at 12:38 a.m. Sept. 20 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, the newcomer was titled "Jennifer Marie." She weighed in at 7 lbs. - 2 ozs. and measured 20 inches.

The new granddaughter of Christine Popich and Margaret Staffeld, both of Romulus, she is also the great-granddaughter of Ella Gall of Taylor.

The new mother is the former Janet Popich.

CELEBRATE HALLOWEEN MEXICAN STYLE

With the approach of Halloween, images of witches, goblins and all shapes and sizes of other delightfully ghostly creatures pop into the heads of adults and kids alike. It's a wonderful, magical time of year — the perfect occasion for a party.

The Mexican-inspired menu shown here adds a new touch to the traditional Allhallow's Eve fare and features economical beans and rice along with funny-face O'Lantern cookies made with apples and crunchy tacos.

Big and little goblins alike will find these recipes easy to make and fun to serve.

Chili Beans on Rice

A spicy chili-type dish and an economical one, too. Use either cooked pinto, pink or red beans.

2 pounds boneless beef, cut in ½-inch cubes
2 cloves garlic, minced
¼ cup vegetable oil
2 to 4 cups water
3-½ cups drained, cooked or canned pinto, pink or red beans
2 cans (14-½ to 16 oz. each) tomatoes
2 onions, chopped
2 cans (4 oz. each) diced green chiles
1 tablespoon chili powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon bottled hot pepper sauce
6 cups hot cooked rice

Brown beef and garlic in oil; add 2 cups water and simmer 30 to 45 minutes or until beef is barely tender. Reserve 1 cup beans; mash and set aside. Drain tomatoes; reserve liquid. Coarsely chop tomatoes.* Add whole beans, tomatoes, reserved tomato liquid, onions, chiles and seasonings. Simmer 30 minutes; stir occasionally. Add additional water, if necessary. Stir in mashed beans; mix well. Simmer 5 minutes longer, or until slightly thickened. Serve over rice. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Note: Recipe may be halved.

*For a more convenient method of chopping canned tomatoes, use kitchen shears to snip the undrained tomatoes right in the can.

Apple Jack O'Lantern Cookies

These oversize, chewy moist cookies are full of chunks of Golden Delicious apples. Why not let the young set decorate them to look like Jack O'Lanterns?

1 cup sugar
¾ cup shortening
½ cup milk
1 egg
2 cups flour
2 cups chopped Golden Delicious apples
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon each salt and baking soda
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup chopped walnuts
Glaze*

Decorations: Raisins, jelly beans and candy corn

In large mixer bowl blend sugar, shortening and egg; gradually beat in milk. Combine remaining ingredients except nuts. Glaze and decorations. Beat into sugar mixture; mix well. Stir in nuts. For each cookie, spoon about ¼ cup dough onto greased baking sheet; space well to allow cookies to spread. Bake at 375°F. about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from baking sheet and cool on wire rack. Dip each cookie in Glaze. Immediately create Jack O'Lantern faces using raisins, jelly beans and candy corn. Makes about 20 cookies.

*Glaze: Stir 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1-½ teaspoons vanilla extract and 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine into ¼ cup hot milk; mix well. Add 3 drops each red and yellow food color if a pumpkin color is desired.

Make ¾ recipe if cookies are spread with (rather than dipped in) glaze.

Phillips, Halbritter are wed

Cathy Lynn Halbritter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Halbritter of 6458 Gloria, Romulus, and Brian Phillips, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pratt of 39302 Superior, Romulus, were united in marriage Oct. 8 at the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. James T. Milligan presided at the double ring rite before some 15 relatives and close friends. Mark DeWitt played guitar music and accompanied his wife, Lylla, as she sang "The Wedding Song" and "You Are So Beautiful."

For her wedding day, the bride donned a full-length gown styled with a Victorian neckline and long train. She wore a white hat and held a bouquet of white roses and peach carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Diane Jones, a close friend from Ypsilanti. She wore a peach frock accented by a sheer cape and held a bouquet of peach carnations and white roses.

Bob Watts of Romulus, a brother-in-law, served as best man.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus VFW Hall, the bride's mother greeted some 100 guests in a beige outfit to which she pinned her corsage of peach roses. Similar flowers were worn on the black and gold dress which the bridegroom's mother chose for the occasion.

After a short honeymoon at the Holidome, the newlyweds took up temporary residence at 39302 Superior in Romulus.

Both young people are Romulus High School graduates, the bride being employed at Elias Brothers Big Boy in Belleville and the bridegroom at Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing in Wayne.

Nov. 9 will be held at Denny's Restaurant at Wayne and Cowan Roads in Westland. State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-6th District) of Northville will speak on current issues facing the state legislature.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Whenever the eerie-yet-silly season — this one, Halloween — rolls round the calendar, I think back to a time when I no longer was on the receiving end of trick-or-treat night but was dishing it out instead. And I'm talking about WAY back when I was a new bride of four months and a few years after that, as the mother of a 3½-year-old.

(Now this is one story my trio hates to hear since it always makes them feel bad but I'm gonna tell it anyway.)

Having been raised in the country where the only "beggars" we got were a few neighbor kids and a couple cousins, I didn't know just how to prepare for my first Oct. 31 as a lady-of-the-house. With my marriage had come a cute little "honeymoon cottage" on the lake right in Belleville, and with it came a proximity to many other houses. Ours was the kind of street parents liked — easy to walk, with lots of doors to knock on and with street lights as well.

Needless to say, I underestimated the hoards of ghosts, clowns, tramps, fairy godmothers, monsters, boys in drag, soldiers, sailors and storybook characters I'd be greeting. Eventually running out of candy bars, we reverted to whatever nickels we had on hand and, with that supply diminished, found it necessary to turn out the porch lights. It was a new experience!

The next year we were a little smarter and (with Yours Truly PG and no longer contributing to the household treasury) went the penny candy route and with plenty that time.

When we moved, it was back to a rural, yet urban, area — country but with a number of businesses nearby. We weren't in a subdivision to attract those wanting house-to-house convenience but we did get the fallout from those adjacent stores which were even more popular with the costumed crowds that last day in October.

Not long after that we were again on the move — and again, to the country but with only a few neighbors. That was in early September so just a couple months later it was time for jack o'lanterns, black cats, witches on broomsticks and those little souls imploring, "Help the poor."

That was the year I decided to be creative and really give my young callers something to talk about. So, with that aforementioned 3½-year-old in tow, I visited the local five and dime, purchasing Halloween napkins, some crinkly ribbon and two colors of crepe paper. Then we were off to the grocery for Tootsie-pop suckers, candied corn, bubble gum and taffy kisses.

Just old enough to realize something "different" was afoot, (she'd been coached by Romper Room, Howdy Doody and the Mouseketeers) our little girl shared in the excitement of preparing for that magic night. She had already decided she'd be a bride — at that age, it was important to look pretty when you "dressed up" — and we had her outfit, complete with tiny nosegay ready and waiting.

Grampa Smith always provided pumpkins from his field for the occasion so we had a dandy big one with a super "handle" to carve. Deciding her jack o'lantern should look mean and scary, she had the clammy, gooey "fun" of helping scoop out the innards once the face was etched.

Since the porch where we'd "receive" our little masqueraders was off the dining room, it was that spot we decided to decorate. So with my helper handing me the sections of orange and black paper, we proceeded to festoon the room with streamers.

Then we opened those napkins, bags of candies and the ribbon and custom-made our "alms bags" — the open napkin being centered with a lollipop with the other goodies surrounding it. We then brought the corners together and tied a perky bow about a quarter way down, creating a rather pretty and colorful "treat" for each of our expected callers. We arranged our finished products — about 50 of 'em since, we figured we'd surely not get as many kids in our more isolated location — on trays next to our pumpkin complete with fierce eyes and a terrible, spikey-toothed mouth and had everything in readiness.

In late afternoon with our "bride" in her regalia, her daddy and I whisked her some eight miles to trick-or-treat her two sets of grandparents who went through all the bewilderment of "Now who do you suppose THIS can be?" — isms much to her giggly delight. Still too little for the door-to-door bit, she did get to beg at a couple aunts' and uncles' before hurrying home to await our onslaught of youngsters.

Dark by then, we got the candle lighted in ol' Jack and sat back waiting for that first carload to pull in. We waited — and waited — and pretty soon the stubby candle burned out and not long after that the wee bride burned out, too.

Now, perhaps, you understand why my girls dislike this bit of past history. You figured it out, didn't you? Not a single soul — not one beggar came to call that night.

And — for some strange reason I think of that long-ago night whenever this eerie-but-silly season rolls 'round.

TRIVIA ANYONE?

- When the Olympics were revived in 1896, the tug-of-war was listed on the official program right alongside the better known events.
- Meteors are small bits of iron, nickel or stone traveling through space at high speeds.
- A surgeon is so called from the Greek words meaning "one who works with his hands."
- Americans drink more soda pop than any other beverage — averaging 34.8 gallons per capita annually.
- The Mona Lisa has no eyebrows. It was the fashion in Renaissance Florence, Italy to shave them off. The real name of the painting is La Gioconda.
- Americans eat more apples than all the rest of the world combined.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Years ago kids were always served health food. If they knew what was good for their health, they ate the food.

Barry Sell, Susan Milatz wed

The soft glow of candlelight set the mood Sept. 10 for the evening ceremony which joined Susan Lynn Milatz and Barry Dean Sell in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Charles Buckahan and The Rev. Ralph Fischer presided at the double ring rite before some 100 relatives and friends including the young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Milatz of 11226 Sharon, Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sell Jr. of 9361 Washington, Romulus.

For the six o'clock wedding at St. Matthew Lutheran Church in Westland, pews were marked with aisle candles accented with floral wreaths. Music for the occasion included "Bless This House" sung by Mrs. Ruth Richert and "One Hand,

MR. AND MRS. BARRY D. SELL

One Heart," "Walk With Me" and "Sometimes" sung by Mrs. Shirley Luckwald.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gown in an ivory vintage creation of embroidered silk organza featuring a motif of leaves and roses. The little fitted bodice was designed with a round neckline which formed a "V" at the back and long sheer sleeves. Encircling her neck was a strand of pearls belonging to her mother.

A heart-shaped vintage cap studded with seed pearls secured her 3-tiered cathedral-length veil which was frosted with pearls while an arm bouquet of baby's breath, fashioned around a lace handkerchief made by her grandmother, completed her ensemble.

As her sister's honor attendant, Cheryl Ann Milatz of Romulus donned an apricot organdy waltz-length frock designed with a long-sleeved lace bodice. Her accessories included matching apricot leotards, ballet slippers and a gold locket which was a gift from the bride. Complementing her dress was an arm bouquet of lilies and baby's breath tied with ivory ribbons.

The only bridesmaid, dressed in an identical outfit, was the bride's aunt, Mrs. Bruce Loper (nee Janet Kay Milatz) of Traverse City.

Alfred Paul De Chene III of Taylor, the bridegroom's cousin, filled the role of best man. Gregory Robert Milatz of Romulus was groomsman at his sister's wedding.

Eleven-year-old Robert Staffeld, the bridegroom's cousin, served as cross bearer.

At the reception which followed at the Lemontree Clubhouse in Belleville, music was played by a harpist and flutist. Guests arriving for the sit-down dinner were greeted by Mrs. Milatz in a fawn-colored street-length dress of organdy and lace and Mrs. Sell, the bridegroom's mother, in a burgundy organza street-length dress. Both were honored with corsages of ivory stephanotis and baby's breath.

A 1981 graduate of Huron High School and a second year student at Eastern Michigan University, the new Mrs. Sell is employed by Hall Real Estate Group of Southfield. Her husband, who works for Delta Airlines at Detroit Metro Airport, graduated in 1980 from Romulus High School.

The newlyweds are now making their home at 47000 Watersedge Lane, #0209 in Belleville.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal dinner at Little Caesar's of Belleville.

Lioness Club has wrapping paper to sell

The Belleville Lioness Club is currently in the process of selling wrapping paper, in both the SMURF and traditional Christmas motifs, to help support its many community projects.

In the past year the group raised money by holding a garage sale, selling 2-year calendar books, Easter egg decorating kits and storybook dolls and also vending food at the weekly turkey shoots sponsored by the Lions Club.

Profits from the aforementioned fund-raisers were donated to the Michigan Eye Bank Research Center; Welcome Home for the Blind at Grand Rapids; Penrickton, a home for handicapped children in Taylor; Leader Dog School in Rochester; Silent Childrens Fund, the pathology and speech department at William Beaumont Hospital; Michigan Diabetes Association; Michigan All State Band (students selected from several cities to play at the International Lions Convention in Hawaii) and the Belleville Athletic Boosters Club. Monies were also used to assemble food baskets for the needy in the community.

For further information on purchasing the wrapping paper, call Fern Koeppel at 697-5563.

Mad at the boss? Frustrated with the dry cleaner who ruined a perfectly good $50 sweater? Furious with an insurance company that won't answer phone calls? Need a little help in the romance department with a very unresponsive partner?

See Ginny Eades, and within days, she'll provide you with a sure-fire way to improve the situation. Because, most often, Eades has been there, and understands the problem.

After 10 years of experience working in law offices and another 10 years as a program director with the YMCA, Eades has indeed seen a great many problems. In addition, she's got her own 43 years of experience in life and an inbred sense of compassion and understanding. But, most of all, Eades has talent, and she has learned to use it.

Her talent is letters ... the composition and execution of same. Eades can listen to the most complicated details of any intricate and delicate problem and find the basic elements necessary for a solution. She has learned to utilize that rare talent in a business she calls, aptly enough, The Letter Writer.

The Letter Writer began rather unassumingly in Eades' bathroom about two years ago as she stood before the mirror, curling iron in hand, and realized that she wasn't making enough money to satisfy her accustomed lifestyle, and she just wasn't really very happy. Her analytical mind functioning, she sorted out her strengths and her talents and hit upon the one thing she was constantly being asked to do for friends, and friends of friends and in the final analysis, for the lawyers for whom she worked.

"I was doing all the pre-lawsuit work. I would write the letters sorting out the problems and asking for a solution before the case went to court," she said. "And I was really good at it. I could, I found, invariably find a solution and get a response. That's what made me so valuable to the lawyers I worked for. I was saving them hours and hours of legal work."

Eades is very careful to stress the fact that she is not a lawyer ... and she does not practice law. She does, however, have a close working relationship with several attorneys who still rely on her talents now that she is The Letter Writer. The majority of her business, however, is everyday people with problems ... people that in two years, Eades has never failed to help.

"I have never had a letter not work. I might not have gotten the full expectations of the client, but I've never had a letter not work," Eades explained.

"People come in here angry ... really angry, but when they leave, they aren't mad anymore. They realize the paycheck with the letter is worth it, and they've satisfied the anger," she said.

The letters are signed by the clients, not by Eades. She composes them, types them and they are then signed and mailed by the client with the client's signature. And Eades is a woman who knows her stuff.

"Most of the letters to companies, say insurance companies, are subtle, but the experienced people reading them know that somewhere down the line a lawyer has been involved. Working in the law offices gave me the vocabulary ... the YWCA taught me to listen, and I really have a great deal of empathy by nature," she said.

Eades letters attempting to prompt action from companies utilize words like ludicrous or capricious, one of her favorites — "that's a real lawyers' word," she smiled.

From a small ad placed in the Detroit News classified section Eades' business has grown from a corner of her Canton bedroom to a full-fledged office, including a staff. She's added an answering service, done job placement with her resume writing service and her business keeps expanding.

She appeared on the Sonya show recently and was inundated with letters from people across the country seeking her help — and she will be a guest on PM Magazine next month.

"I was so scared on Sonya, I could have vomited on command," Eades confessed with her ever ready wit. "Hey, I'm not Ann Landers. I don't tell people what to do — I hand them a letter, it's all done."

The Letter Writer can be contacted at 4171 Joy Road in Canton, 48187 or by phone at 455-8892. Names, dates, places and times of letters used for publication are often changed to protect confidentiality. Letters for the column are chosen solely by Eades.

McKelveys mark golden year

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McKelvey of Denton were unaware when they were taken out to dinner Oct. 14 to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at the Holiday Inn of Livonia that there were much bigger plans afoot and a surprise party awaiting them the following day.

The 30 members of their immediate family, who were at the evening dinner which also marked the "bride's" birthday, were in on the hush-hush festivities which began at 2:30 on the afternoon of Oct. 15. On that warm and beautiful Saturday, a horse-drawn surrey stopped at the McKelvey's home at 6250 Denton Road and took them for a ride around the community. They were then delivered to Faith United Methodist Church where some 200 relatives and friends awaited their arrival.

A ceremony for the renewal of their vows had been written especially for the occasion by the "bridegroom's" brother, Dr. Wesley McKelvey of Aurora, Ill., who had been best man at the 1933 wedding and who conducted the rite with assistance from another brother, Dr. James McKelvey of St. Louis, Mo. and The Rev. Hoon Hee, church pastor.

The McKelvey's granddaughter, Patricia Fleming, provided special organ music and also sang "These are the Best Times" and accompanied Mrs. Alice Atwell as she sang "Always."

Paul and Ruth McKelvey of Inglewood, Fla., brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as honor attendants with another brother, Charles McKelvey of Belleville, and the bride's brother, Max Youngs of Howell, carrying out the usher detail.

Following the ceremony a buffet reception was held for relatives and friends from Millersville, Md., Aurora, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., Inglewood, Fla., Flint, Cement City, Attica, Fowlerville, Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, Farmington, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Lincoln Park, Howell, Plymouth, Canton, Ypsilanti, Wayne and Belleville.

Members of the United Methodist Women were in charge of the kitchen. Rayleen Haydon, a granddaughter, cut the wedding cake while Mrs. Lucille McKelvey, Mrs. Florence McKelvey, Mrs. Pearl McKelvey, Mrs. Sharon Fleming, Mrs. Nancy Fleming and Mrs. Cheryl Moran presided at the punch bowls.

This was the first time in 11 years that all five of the McKelvey brothers had been together at the same time which made the occasion even more memorable.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD MCKELVEY

Edward McKelvey took Doretha Fern Youngs as his bride on Oct. 15, 1933 at the Methodist Parsonage in Carleton, the wedding being performed by the bridegroom's father, The Rev. Clarence McKelvey, before members of the immediate family.

Two children born to their union were Betty, who now lives with her husband, Ray, in Belleville and a son, Gerald, who makes his home with his wife, Louanna, in Belleville. Also added to their family tree over the years were eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. The entire family played host at the party.

Residents of the area for some 48 years, the McKelveys have been active in Faith United Methodist Church for as long as they have resided in Denton. They also are active members of Rebekah Lodge #270 and Oddfellow Lodge #548 of Ypsilanti. A member of the Belleville Masonic Lodge, Mr. McKelvey is a former General Motors employee, having retired 10 years ago after working in the powerhouse at Hydra-Matic Division for some 18 years.

BPW observes Women's Week at services

Continued observation of National Business Women's Week was made by 13 members of the Belleville BPW Club and four guests who attended Mass at St. Anthony Church Oct. 16. Warm words of welcome were extended by Father Bednarski at the beginning of the celebration with Father Raymond Skoney also speaking to the group.

Following the service, 16 members and guests gathered at the Brass Belle for breakfasts and continued good fellowship.

Over cups of coffee, it was suggested the club continue its Sunday observation of National Business Women's Week by attending the 10:30 a.m. worship service at the First United Methodist Church in a group. Again, a pleasant welcome was extended by Rev. George Spencer.

Pastors of both St. Anthony's and First United Methodist Church gave a word of promotion for the Belleville-Van Buren Community Blood Mobile Drive that will be conducted by the BPW Club, on Monday, Oct. 31st, at the B.H.S. auditorium from 2 to 7:45 p.m.

HOW TO COOK FROZEN BEEF CUTS

When broiling frozen steaks, place them farther from the heat and broil 1½ to 2 times the recommended time for comparable unfrozen cuts. For roasts, allow 1½ to 1¾ times the time required for unfrozen cuts. Frozen beef cuts such as pot-roasts that are cooked by moist heat usually need little, if any, additional cooking time.

COOKING CORNER

GETTING THE MOST FROM YOUR FOOD PROCESSOR

Your food processor is one of the most versatile machines in your kitchen. The more you use it, the more you'll find ways to make it work for you.

Experience will teach you to adapt recipes so that time-consuming preparation can become a thing of the past. The experts from the Hobart Corporation, who make the Kitchen Aid Food Processor, suggest you rearrange ingredients in recipes in the order of processing. Always process dry foods first before moving on to foods such as onions or zucchini, which have a high water content. That way you'll save time washing bowls and blades.

This list of equivalents may help you get an idea of how much food will turn out the chopped, sliced or shredded amount called for in a recipe:

- Cheese — four ounces Cheddar or Swiss, shredded, will yield one cup.
- Bread — one slice fresh, crumbed, will yield one-half cup. One slice dried, crumbed, will yield one-eighth cup.

- Walnuts — one cup pieces, chopped, will yield one cup.

- Graham cracker squares — 15 squares, crumbed, will yield one cup.

- Onions — one medium onion, chopped or sliced, will yield one cup.

- Potatoes — one medium potato, sliced or shredded, will yield three-quarters cup. The same potato, chopped, will yield one cup.

KEN KAESTNER

The impossible dream

Churchill upsets 2-time state champ

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Anyone who believes miracles don't really happen in high school athletics should have been at Farmington Harrison High School last Saturday.

Livonia Churchill's Charger football team, entering the game with a dismal 1-5 seasonal record, took on Farmington Harrison, ranked number one in the state, and riding a 29-game winning streak.

Very few people gave the Chargers any chance of staying in the ballgame. But the Churchill crew did more than stay with the high-flying Hawks. They beat them, 13-12, in front of a stunned crowd of the Hawk faithful.

"This was a great, great win for our school," said a jubilant Churchill coach Ken Kaestner. "I'm so proud of these young men that I can't fully express it."

Kaestner had good reason to be proud. His team beat the Hawks the hard way, as the two squads played the entire game in miserable weather conditions.

Harrison got a six-pointer in the first quarter by their premier running back, John Miller. He crashed through from two yards out, but Harrison couldn't convert for an extra point.

Churchill got their initial touchdown when John Stoitsiadis, playing free safety on defense intercepted a Harrison toss, and returned it 45 yards for six points. Steve Bond lifted the ball through the uprights to give the Chargers a 7-6 advantage, which they held until the half.

In the third quarter, it was Miller who once again put the Hawks in control. After a sustained drive, with Miller doing most of the ball carrying, he finished things off with a five yard burst across the goal line. Again, the Harrison PAT squad couldn't get the job done, but it was now a 12-7 game.

With time running out in the contest, the Churchill offensive unit put together its first real drive of the night. Stoitsiadis, this time manning the quarterback's slot, marched the ball across 65-yard markers and finished the job off with a one yard quarterback sneak across the goal line. With 3:04 left on the clock, the Chargers went for a two point conversion. The pass was incomplete, and the Churchill squad now owned a slim one point lead.

A Charger kick that nailed the Hawks at their own 16 yard line helped the Churchill cause. Harrison marched the ball up to the 40, but their drive stalled there.

There were now two minutes left showing on the clock, and Churchill was in good shape, since they had the ball back. That didn't last long, however, as the Chargers fumbled on first down. Now the Hawks had the ball, were in good field position, and were ready to move in for the kill.

Instead, they ended up on the executioner's sword. The Harrison offense tried a pass, which fell incomplete, and then fumbled the snap on second down. Churchill's Dennis Copley jumped on the loose pigskin, and that was the end of the game, and any hopes the Hawks had for the state playoffs.

"We had outstanding performances by several of our players," said Kaestner, "but I would have to single out Stoitsiadis. For a junior, he showed a lot of poise out there tonight. Our entire offensive unit, Bob Faust, Erwin Anderson-Smith and John Fraser, just had an outstanding game."

This week, the Chargers will go up against an opponent they have never faced before—the Livonia Bentley Bulldogs.

"Believe it or not, we have never faced them before," said Kaestner.

"They lost a tough game last week, so we expect them to be in a foul mood when we showed up."

Robichaud eludes Inkster, 14-9

Unbeaten Bulldogs are scored upon

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

It was the kind of game that everyone had predicted it would be.

It was rough, exciting, and close all the way.

Anytime Robichaud and Inkster get together for a Suburban Athletic Conference battle, it ends up being just that, a battle, no matter what the sport.

Friday afternoon was no exception. The Inkster Vikings came to Dearborn Heights looking for a chance to steal the Robichaud Bulldog's Homecoming. The red and black 'dogs of Robichaud started the game with an unblemished 6-0 over-all record, and their defense had not allowed a touchdown in almost a year.

If Inkster was in awe, they surely didn't show it. They smashed Robichaud's hopes for an unscored upon season, but tired in the end to fall 14-9.

The Vikings hushed the Robichaud crowd early in the second quarter when Lorenzo Halley picked up a pass and charged into the Bulldog end zone. A clipping penalty against one of Halley's teammates negated that six pointer, and a huge sigh of relief went up from the cheering section.

That relief didn't last long.

Five plays later, Inkster quarterback Darryl Grose lofted a 13 yard toss to Duane Hinton, and he cut into the corner of the scoring zone to break Robichaud's spell. Brian Jones did the kicking chores to make it 7-0.

If there was a letdown on the Bulldog sideline, it never showed. On their next possession, the Robichaud offense moved the ball steadily down the field before quarterback Mark Medlock found Jarvis Walker streaking down the sideline. Medlock's pass was tipped by an Inkster defender, but Walker still managed to reel it in and charge into the end zone.

"That was just a great catch by Walker," said Robichaud coach Bob Yauck. "He stayed with it, and held on tight."

Things stayed deadlocked until late in the final period. Once again, —Robichaud went on the march. With 7:12 left on the clock, Mike Bowden went in from the five yard line to make it 13-7. Maurice Smith kicked his second PAT of the evening to give the Bulldogs a seven point lead.

Inkster also put on an impressive offensive display on their next possession, but were stopped on the goal line by the Bulldog defensive line. Robichaud got the ball back, but were hemmed in so deep that Medlock elected to take a safety to get the ball out of danger.

With one and a half minutes left, Inkster put the Robichaud defense to the test, but they couldn't break through when they needed to.

"I thought our kids played well, but we wanted to win this game badly," said a disappointed Inkster coach Arnie James. "We had a lot of trouble running the ball on them, and it cost us."

In the other locker room, Yauck was praising both squads.

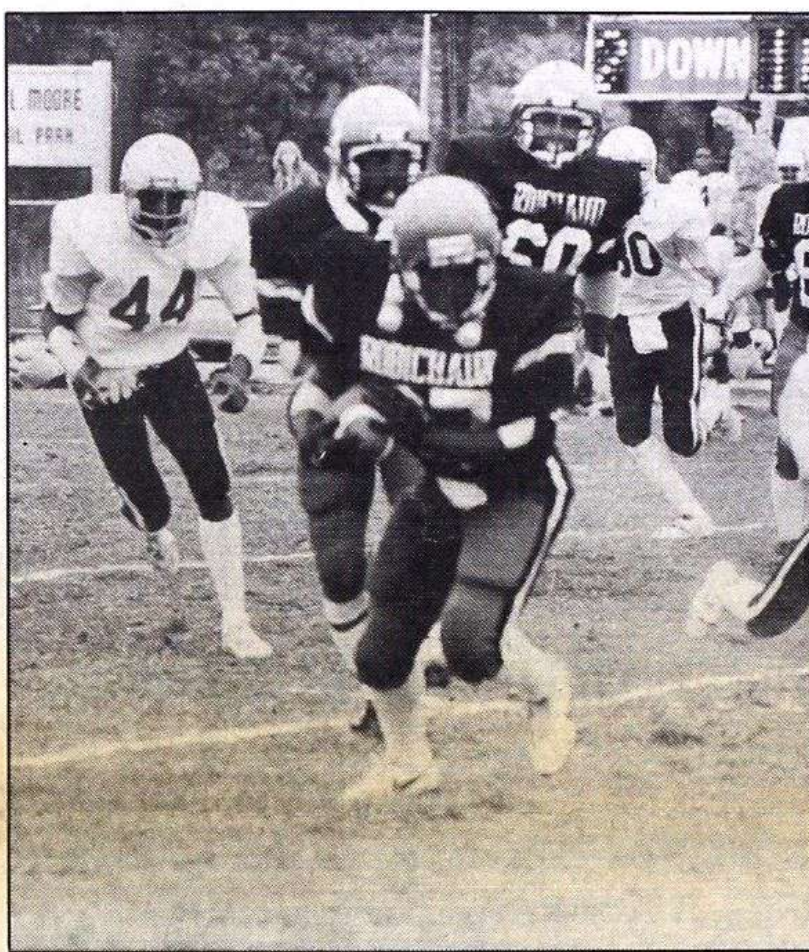

"If anyone was going to score on us, I'm glad it was our neighbors," said Yauck. "Actually, I'm kind of glad they did score. It was getting to be quite a distraction."

Both teams are in for another test this week. Robichaud will try to continue their charge toward the state playoffs when they meet Corunna Friday night on the road.

"They are a 2-5 team, but a pretty tough 2-5 team," said Yauck. "We can't take anyone too lightly at this point."

Inkster will be hosting East Catholic Friday afternoon.

"They are a Class D team, but they also have won four straight," said coach James. "We have to go out with the right mental attitude and take it to them. We can't just walk on the field expecting to win."

Running room

Robichaud Bulldog running back Mike Bowden knows the way to the end zone, and he proved it last Friday. Bowden scored the winning touchdown for Robichaud, as the Bulldogs won their seventh straight game of the season, 14-9 over Inkster.

Franklin does it to Glenn ...again

The old saying, "The best-laid plans of mice and men often go astray" proved true Friday night at John Glenn High School's Kionka Field as the Rockets suffered a 14-11 loss at the hands of Northwest Suburban League nemesis Livonia Franklin.

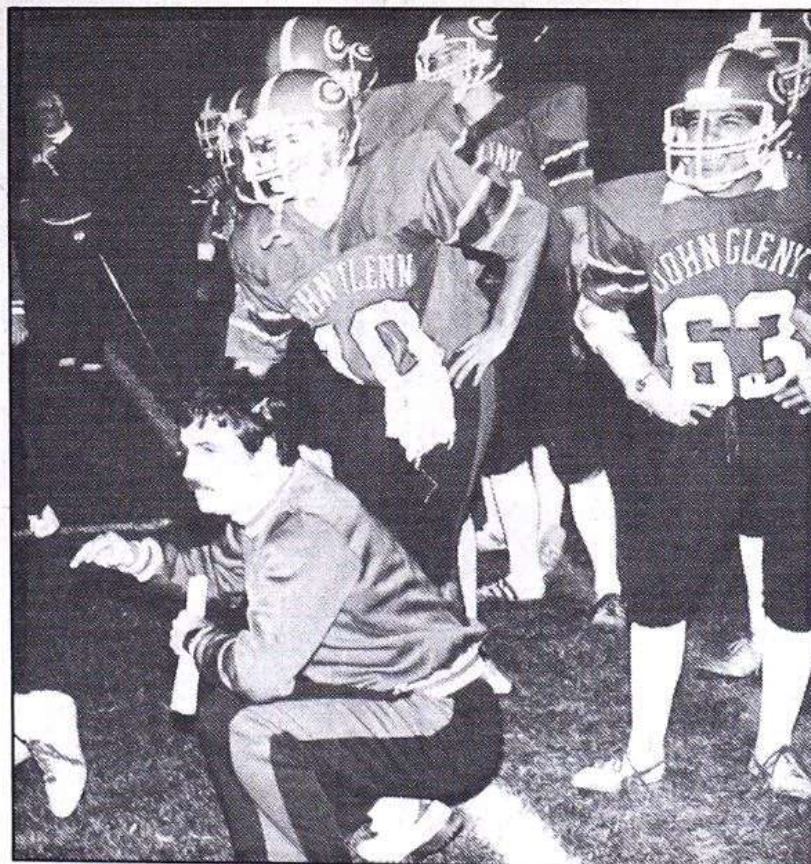

The Rockets, who had entered the contest with a sparkling 4-0 league mark, had made plans to celebrate their first outright league championship since 1976. Instead, the loss dropped them to 4-1, and as a result of North Farmington's 20-13 victory over Garden City, into a tie for the NWSL title. The co-championship was Glenn's second in three years and head coach Chuck Gordon's third in his seven-year tenure as coach.

A disappointed Gordon had little to say after the game commenting only, "It was a disappointing loss because we're capable of playing better than we did."

But Livonia Franklin had made other plans and those plans didn't include handing the league title to Glenn on a silver platter. They came to Glenn enjoying their role as spoilers and with hopes of ruining Glenn's plans of an outright league championship.

After all, they were the defending league champions and they wanted something to say about who won it in 1983.

Patriot Coach Armand Vigna told his team to "go out and have (See GLENN Page C-2)

Rocket misfired

Westland John Glenn coach Chuck Gordon, with his troops behind him, views the action. The Rockets ran up against an old nemesis, Livonia Franklin, Friday night and were forced to hand over a share of the Northwest Suburban Conference football championship after losing their first league encounter.

Benefit run is set

A benefit run will be staged Nov. 5 for Jim Rafferty, a young man who suffers from a degenerative heart condition and will survive only a matter of months if the $100,000 necessary for a heart transplant cannot be raised.

The benefit to be held on Hines Drive at Wilcox Lake, northeast of Plymouth, includes both a timed 10-kilometer run and a 10-kilometer (6.2) mile walk.

The event begins at 9 a.m. There is a pre-registration donation of $6 or $7 the day of the event.

Entrants are encouraged to seek pledges for distances covered. The timed run will have awards for the first five finishers by age and sex.

Registration forms are available at Wayne County General Hospital. For information call Jim Rawlinson at 722-2500, extension 6400.

Bulldogs stay perfect

Arch-rival Inkster made it rough on undefeated cross-town Robichaud Friday afternoon when the two natural rivals clashed in a Suburban Athletic Conference game. Although the Vikings scored upon the previously unscored upon Bulldogs, the Dearborn Heights gridders chalked up their seventh straight victories against no losses to remain in contention for a state playoff berth.

Canton falls short of winning its first; losing streak is at 7

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Canton Chiefs fell just short on winning their first game of the 1983 campaign Friday night when they dropped a 27-21 decision to Livonia Stevenson.

Stevenson came out hot to score all of their points in the first half, and then the Chiefs, never believing for a moment that they were too far behind, fought back gallantly before running out of time.

"We were moving the ball well in the first quarter, got the ball to the 10-yard line, and then threw an interception," said Chief coach Richard Barr. "That seemed to deflate the team."

Stevenson then went on the offensive, and racked up all 27 of their points.

"Their quarterback really picked us apart," said Barr. "We had a lot of trouble keeping him contained."

The Chiefs went to the locker room at the intermission with their feathers hanging low. They returned to the gridiron, though, with a renewed vengeance.

"The momentum seemed to turn around in the second half," said Barr. "We got on a roll, and just kept going."

Quarterback Tony Aiken helped get the Chiefs their first seven in the third quarter when he fired a 30 yard strike to Jim Kashke in the end zone. Canton tried for a two pointer, but couldn't get the play perfected.

That made it 27-6 entering the final 12 minutes of play. The Chiefs stayed on the warpath, and racked up two more quick touchdowns.

Matt Flower got their first one on a 30-yard run after the Canton offense had charged across the midfield stripe. Aiken then ran the ball in for two points.

With time running out, Canton struck again. Rod Boyd trotted in from five-yards away, and Jim Kaske put the ball through the goalposts to make it 27-21.

The Chiefs tried to get the ball back quickly with an onside kick, but Stevenson scooped up the bouncing ball, and the clock ran out on the snakebitten Canton squad.

"The kids played well, but we just ran out of time," said Barr. "Boyd had a good game, with 95 yards, and Flower had 61, so they did a fine job."

This Friday, Canton will be on the road versus Farmington, which currently owns a 2-5 mark.

"They are a good team," said Barr. "They have a good, balanced line, throw the ball well, and generally have a good strong offense. They will give us fits."

Wayne to host girls' Western Wayne swim championships

If Wayne Memorial wants to keep the Western Wayne Swim & Diving Crown, the Zebras will have to beat Westland John Glenn for it.

That's the word from Wayne Coach Jim McPartlin who sees the Westlanders as "the heavy favorite to win this year".

"Glenn has to be considered the heavy favorite for this meet," McPartlin said. "They have a lot of experience and seniors in their present line-up."

Joining Wayne and Glenn at the annual invitational will be girls' teams representing Riverview, Livonia Franklin, Garden City, Wyandotte and Lincoln Park.

The diving preliminaries for the 1983 competitions will be staged at 12:30 p.m. on Friday.

That same day at 4 p.m., the swimming prelims will be held.

The championships are scheduled for 1 p.m. on Saturday. All of the events will be conducted at Wayne Memorial pool.

Wayne split with its rivals last week, crushing Livonia Franklin 123-49 in and out-of-conference meet but losing a key Wolverine lay captured two events, grabbing the 200 and 500 yard freestyle while the Zebras swept all 11 events.

However, it was a different story against Trenton, one of the favorites to win the newly-established Wolverine "A" Conference title. The Trojans just had too much depth for the Zebras who received outstanding individual performances from Conley and Lia Kaquette.

Conley touched in first for the 50 (27.1) yard freestyle and the 100-yard freestyle (1:01.5), while Kaquette was clocked in 2:34.5 in winning the 200-yard individual freestyle medley and 1:13.6 for the 100-yard backstroke.

Wendy Gardner placed first in the 200-yard freestyle (2:17.0) and Dana Walls touched in first in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:20.4), while Elaine Dasho picked up 167 points in winning the diving competition for the Zebras.

Salem drops a heartbreaker to WLC

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

There are a lot of people around Plymouth Salem High School this week wishing that high school football games lasted only 42 minutes.

Last Friday, the Rocks fell to Walled Lake Central High, 28-25, after taking a 25-15 lead into the final six minutes of the game.

"Our kids didn't play that badly, it's just that their quarterback got real hot there at the end," said Rock mentor Tom Moshimer, whose team lost their first game of the season.

It was a 15-15 tie at the intermission, thanks to a pair of TDs by each squad.

Plymouth got their first eight points when Mark Tindall capped an 81 yard drive with a 13 yard pass to Craig Morton. Chris Raymond did the work for Salem on the two pointer afterwards.

It was another series of tough running plays that culminated in TD number two for the Rocks.

Glenn falls to old nemesis

fun. And they sure did."

Franklin got their hands on the ball first and this first drive was an indication of how the Patriots were going to play on this October evening.

Even though they didn't score, the Patriots used up nearly half the quarter in driving nearly the length of the field. Using the strong arm of quarterback Robert Drabicki (Sr., 5-9, 170), Franklin moved the ball quickly. The key play on the drive was a 28-yard scamper by Drabicki out of the shotgun formation.

But the Rocket defense, which had yielded only one touchdown in their last 11 quarters, wasn't about to surrender one here. Junior defensive end Jeff Meixner and junior tackle Jim Vojak turned in a pair of sacks which stopped the Patriots at the 20-yard line.

Patriot kicker Larry Patzch's attempt for a field goal was wide left. Glenn's defense had dodged the first bullet and their plans were still on target.

Unfortunately, for the Rockets, that was only temporarily. On Glenn's third play from scrimmage, a bad pitch from senior quarterback Jeff Hawley to tailback Tony Boles bounced short of its intended target. The ball went right into the hands of Drabicki, who raced 25 yards untouched into the end zone. Patzch's point-after attempt was good and the Patriots led, 7-0.

The Rockets, however, don't give up that easily. They proceeded to take the kick-off and move the ball against the Patriots. Hawley completed two key passes to Ron Taig (Jr., 6-2, 167) and Meixner. A pair of six-yard runs by co-captain Tom Forchione got the ball to the 11-yard line.

A couple incomplete passes later, Chris Piazza entered the game to attempt a 28-yard field goal.

As the ball sailed through the uprights and the official signaled "good", Piazza had entered the Rockets record books. The field goal was his fifth of the season, tying the record held by Kal DeLuca and Todd Jennings.

Each team took turns in the second quarter with the ball but the defenses of both teams refused to crack. The Patriots, led by Doug Kroll (Jr., 5-9, 171) and Tim Gabel (Jr., 5-9, 171), held stubbornly to their 7-3 lead. Glenn's defense, led by Tim Naughton, tried to keep the game close and allow their offense a chance to put some points on the board.

Shortly before halftime, Franklin's offense got their hands on the ball once again and moved the ball into the end zone. The Drabicki brothers, Robert and David, ran the ball most of the way down the field. Bob Drabicki then completed a 3-yard pass to his brother for the score and, with the successful PAT, Franklin had a 14-3 lead at halftime.

Coach Armand Vigna, now in his 13th year as head coach of the Patriots, knew full well that an 11-point lead was not big enough, especially when you play the Rockets.

Livonia Franklin didn't score in the second half but their offense held onto the ball long enough to make any scoring attempts by Glenn brief. The Patriots used a stable of runners to hold onto the ball — both Drabicki brothers, Joe Karcher, Randy Hurst, and Scott Kraning.

The Patriot defense dodged the bullet themselves when a 60-yard touchdown run by Boles was called back because of an illegal block.

Glenn finally got a drive going late in the fourth quarter when Forchione began running the ball up the middle for five yards a crack. Hawley hooked up with his favorite receiver, Rob Bell, for a key pass to the 5-yard line.

That pass reception, one of six on the evening for the senior receiver, allowed him to break the school career receiving yardage record of 385, formerly held by Jim Irwin. Bell ended up with six receptions for 103 yards, bringing his career total to 453 yards.

Hawley got the ball into the end zone on a one-yard sneak and completed a two-point conversion pass to Bell and the Rockets now trailed only, 14-11.

Next on the Rockets agenda is always-tough Highland Park, a team described by Gordon as "the biggest team we played this season. They have great speed. If we don't play better then we've been playing, we'll be in trouble."

Not this time

Belleville had its hands full Friday night but its defense did shine in the above play where the Tigers put up a goal-line defense that stopped Ron Stewart from inflicting any further damage. Belleville fell before a Homecoming crowd 16-09 as Stewart and Dave Kopchia each tallied TDs for the Tractors.

Belleville high principal lauds Tiger Booster Club's efforts

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following message to the Belleville High Booster Club and athletic fans was written by James Richendollar, Belleville High Principal. It is published below to commend the group which has fought to keep high school athletics alive).

Although the sports pages are typically given to reporting the outstanding efforts of those who score touchdowns, baskets and runs, we would like to honor a group of dedicated persons who score by selling raffle tickets.

Unlike the proverbial individual on the Boys Town logo who insists the load he carried is light because it's his brother, The Belleville Tiger Booster Club carries a load that is indeed heavy, athletics.

Although members do not complain, they nonetheless, admit the load is considerable.

The Belleville Tiger Booster Club has once again undertaken the task of raising some $80,000 so that the young men and women at Belleville High School may participate in athletics.

This marks the third consecutive year the Boosters have financed the athletic programs.

The Booster Club, comprised largely of parents of athletics, raises the some $80,000 through flea markets, spaghetti suppers, Las Vegas Night, Donkey Basketball, Powder-Puff Football, celebrity softball, sponsorship of dance recitals, new car raffle, etc. The major fund raiser, however is the Super Draw.

Ahtletes, parents and Booster members sell Super Draw Raffle tickets for a donation of $104 each. Each patron purchasing a ticket is guaranteed a chance to win $500 each week for a year (that's 52 chances to win $500).

In addition, each purchaser is issued a Booster Badge that is their ticket to be admitted free of charge to all regularly scheduled athletic events held at the Belleville High School for that season. Only 100 Super Draw tickets will be sold. Hey Lottery lovers wake up. That's $2 a week to win $500. See any Tiger Booster Club Member or any athlete for your ticket.

Thanks to the efforts of former Booster President Bob Fowler and current President Bob Courter, and members of the Belleville Tiger Booster Club, students at Belleville High School have a full range of sports including: Men —cross Country, Football, Swimming, Wrestling, Basketball, Track and Baseball.

Women: Cross Country, Volleyball, Swimming, Gymnastics, Basketball, Track and Softball.

Homecoming spoiled

Fordson shuts out Belleville

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Belleville Tigers dropped below the .500 mark (3-4) for the 1983 season last Friday night by falling to Fordson 16-0 at the Tiger Homecoming celebration.

Fordson used 10 first half points and a late disputed touchdown to defang the Tigers. Belleville got close to the goal line on three occasions, but couldn't punch the ball across the line.

The visitors got the scoreboard running in the first quarter with a touchdown run by Ron Stewart, who gathered 105 yards for the evening. A successful PAT gave Fordson a 7-0 lead.

Belleville fought back, and had the ball inside the opponent's 20 yard line, before their drive stalled out in the second quarter.

Just before the half, Fordson charged again, and cashed in with a 24 yard field goal by Dave Gaiss. That made it 10-zip at the half, and Tiger coach Mike Colletta admitted that the late score may have disheartened his team a little.

"That one, and their last TD, really hurt us," said Colletta. "It should have been a one touchdown game, but that isn't the way things worked out.

After the Homecoming festivities at the half, the Tigers and Fordson played a scoreless third frame. Both teams then came back to threaten in the finale. Belleville looked like they were going to go in for the first time late in the quarter when they had the ball at the Fordson eight. A costly interception, which Fordson picked off in the end zone, stopped the Tigers dead in their tracks.

On the next Belleville possession, it was another turnover that sealed their fate. Quarterback Bob Courter had the ball knocked loose on a disputed call, and Fordson picked it up and ran it back to the Belleville three. From there, they trotted into the end zone.

"That was a really bad call on the official's part," said Colletta. "It should have been ruled an incomplete pass, but the ref was looking the other way and let it go."

Even though there were 16 points separating the two teams on the scorecard, the stats for the contest were much closer. Belleville had 278 total yards of offense on 123 rushing and 155 in the air, while the victors had 272 on 74 passing and 198 rushing.

Leonard Armstrong, Belleville's candidate for All-State honors, led the Tiger charge with 108 yards on 18 carries, and Courter was 10 for 28 with two interceptions for the night.

This week, the Tigers will host the Trenton Trojans, and Colletta expects another tough one.

"They are basically a running team," said the Tiger coach. "They do it very well, though, and it makes them a good, sound football team."

"We don't enjoy having to face Fordson and Trenton back to back, but they are league teams. They will give us a workout."

The "workout" starts at 7:30 p.m., Friday evening on the Belleville gridiron.

Pipelines... make good neighbors

America has over 220,000 miles of petroleum pipelines carrying crude oil and products to refineries and storage terminals across the United States. Each day, more than 1.5 billion ton/miles of crude oil and products move through this network. These pipelines have a safety record second to none in the transportation industry... and we want you to help us keep it that way.

- liquids on or a mist above the ground in the area of a pipeline.
- Flames originating from an opening in the ground. If you become aware of a pipeline leak...
- LEAVE THE LEAK AREA IMMEDIATELY.
- Avoid driving into vapor clouds.
- Avoid direct contact with the escaping liquids.

When you see signs like those shown above, they tell you that there's a pipeline nearby. If it's underground, you can't see it, of course. But it's there, working quietly to provide energy for you and other consumers throughout this nation.

Some of these signs list the commodity transported in the pipeline, the name of the operator, and a telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times.

Although pipelines have an exceptionally good safety record, once in a while a leak can occur. Indications of a leak might include:

- A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a pipeline.
- A hissing or roaring sound (caused by petroleum or product escaping from a pipeline).
- A dense white cloud or fog.
- A spot of dead or discolored vegetation.
- An accumulation of petroleum

- Avoid creating sparks or sources of heat which could cause the liquids or vapor to ignite and burn. If you find yourself in a suspected vapor area, do not light a match, start an engine or even switch on an electric light.
- Notify the pipeline operator as soon as you reach a safe area. Call collect. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If you do not know who the pipeline operator is, call your local fire, police or sheriff's department, or the state police. Advise them of the nature and location of the emergency. If you see someone digging near a pipeline or doing other construction work... or if you plan to do such work near a pipeline yourself... please call the telephone number shown on the sign and let the pipeline company know so damage can be avoided. It's in your interest... and the nation's.

Mission accomplished

Mark and Randy are Belleville High alumni while Eric is a senior. Not pictured are Bob Pinston and Ron Richter, who also helped.

Belleville High sports brand new cafeteria ceiling

It may be work for some families, but for the Schofields it's play. And a community service.

On the 24 and 25 of October, the ceiling in the students' cafeteria was redone. The Schofield family, residents of Belleville, donated their time and trade to this charitable cause.

The materials were provided and paid for by the school. The job took over 10 hours to complete.

The immediate Schofield family, as well as a number of relatives, joined in on the labor. Schofield is part owner of Northwest Acoustical Company, a construction business. Three of the four Schofield sons helped on the job.

Randy and Mark, former graduates of Belleville High School, and Eric, who is a senior B.H.S. Also helping were Ron Richter and Don and Bob Pingston, cousins of Schofields.

Schofield has lived in the Belleville community for 25 years.

Ever since the Booster Club has been operating due to the absence of funding for sports, the family has been an avid participant.

Eric Schofield is in men's swimming this year and currently helping on the construction of the west wing.

The job, generated by Belleville's principal James Richendollar, cost about $2,000 for materials but the Schofields saved several thousand dollars in labor cost for the school district.

No.1 Marysville mauls Romulus

You won't get any argument out of Norb Glover or the Romulus gridders about Marysville's being the No. 1 Class B football team in the state this year.

Marysville showed the Eagles why they are so highly thought of in the state Friday night as they buried the local team 50-6 for their seventh consecutive victory. It was Romulus' fifth loss against two wins.

However, Romulus is yet to win on its home turf since switching two years ago to North Junior High from the high school field to play under the lights.

"Marysville is just one tremendous team," Glover said after the massacre. "And they would beat Robichaud the same way they beat us." (Robichaud has a 7-0 record and was unscathed upon in its first six games).

Robichaud will get an opportunity to show the Eagles just how good they are after Romulus takes on Redford Thurston Friday night. The two clash next week. Thurston, which is 1-6 on the year, is a team to contend with, Glover says.

"Our reports say that this year's team (Thurston) has an excellent crop of players who give all they got to win. We're not taking them or anyone lightly. We have to be ready to play. That's all there is to it."

After trailing by as much as 36-0 at the halfway point, Romulus eluded the shutout when Vince Morris capped a 40-yard drive engineered by sophomore quarterback Scotty Hampton, and scored from the seven-yard line late in the fourth period.

Huron losing streak is at 16

New Boston has two more games to break an incredible 16-game losing streak.

And if Coach Jamie Hinojosa and the Chiefs don't do it against Airport, which is mired in a 1-16 over-all record for the past two seasons, then they will have Ypsilanti Lincoln, also limping along, the following week to accomplish their singular goal.

"It has to be disappointing to all of us," said Coach Hinojosa after Carlson turned back his charges 34-7 in a Huron Conference mismatch. "You can say all you want, but there is nothing better than a victory as a morale booster. And we haven't had one in these parts for quite some time."

Carlson, a team that also had its problems with other league rivals, jumped out in front 21-0 before the Chiefs struck back with a 43-yard scoring pass-run play that teamed back-up quarterback Les Harris with receiver Danny Zigler.

"About all I can say about this game is that we did show up," moaned Hinojosa.

Romulus captures Metro-West cage title

It's all over in the Metro West Conference girls' basketball circuit.

And Romulus can boast that it has the inaugural title, thanks to Coach Ron Bayes and his undefeated Eagles.

Romulus captured the championship last week by crushing Oak Park 46-30 on Tuesday, then erasing Taylor Truman 59-36 on Thursday to lift their league record to an untarnished 6-0 on the season.

"The girls did an exceptional job against their league rivals, but there are a lot of tough ones ahead," Bayes noted. "We will face Ann Arbor Pioneer Thursday night."

Ann Arbor is unbeaten and is ranked 8th in the Class A state polls.

"We're looking forward to the challenge," Bayes continued. "Pioneer is one of the best teams in the state and you learn by playing the best."

Oak Park stayed in the game right up to the half, but with sisters Donna and Colleen McKay scoring in double figures and Cheryl Hawk doing a superb job on defense,

The first Metro-West cage champs

the Eagles turned it into a lopsided affair.

Donna tossed in 14 points while hauling down 15 rebounds and Colleen added 11 points and eight assists.

The Eagles widened a five point, 20-15 halftime cushion over Taylor Truman with a 22-10 scoring edge in the third period and never looked back. Bonita Meeks paced the champs with 19 points and 16 rebounds and Donna McKay counted 16 rebounds and chipped in 12 points for the winners who increased their over-all record to 10-4 on the year.

LARGE CORPORATIONS WILL ALSO CORRECT THEIR MISTAKES.

Dear Letter Writer:
On Sept. 1, 1983, I received a letter from my former employer telling me that my "layoff" status had been changed to a "separation status." They told me a lot of other things about how to reapply for a job and that they wanted to call me back to work but I didn't have the qualifications. Also, the way I read the letter, all my benefits were terminated. I am out of work and now I have no benefits. Can you help me write a letter and tell them how unfair I think they have been?

Sincerely, Mrs. B.
September 9, 1983
Dear Company Manager:
I am in receipt of your letter to me of Sept. 1, 1983, informing me of the change of my employee status with the company from "laid-off" to "separation of employment."
My employment at the company began in Sept., 1974 and was eight years in duration. My job description and functions included handling incoming telephone calls on the switchboard, stuffing envelopes, recording territory manager expenses reports, cashing for C.O.D. sales for equipment and parts and clerical assistance to the service and accounting departments.

In spite of my many faceted duties and service to the company, I was referred to and known as "The Person Who Answered The Phone". I was never approached with regard to cross-training nor was my job description or job title ever changed. My personnel file will reflect exemplary employee performance.

In Sept., 1982, I was "laid-off" from the company and collected unemployment insurance until Aug., 1983.

The functions that I had been performing prior to my layoff were divided up among existing employees of the company. All five-plus of these employees were hired by the company after Sept., 1974, and, therefore, had less seniority than myself.

On or about March, 1983, the company began hiring new employees. During this entire period of time, i.e. Sept., 1982, to June, 1983, I was not called back to work nor was I given an opportunity for employment of any type with the company.

Your Sept. 1, 1983 letter is confusing and ambiguous. You allude to my employee benefits and state "The effect your break in service has on retirement benefits will be determined as of the date of your re-employment."

Does this mean that I have lost my eight years of seniority toward my 10 year retirement vesting period?

Does this mean that I will be "re-employed" by the company?

You state "... attempts were made to consider you for available job opportunities compatible with your qualifications and interests. Unfortunately, this endeavor was not successful." This statement is a total contradiction as I was, for eight years, functioning in a position with the company which was "... compatible with ... (my) ... qualifications."

I would appreciate your prompt response explaining the position that the company is taking with regard to my accrued benefits, loss of employment and an adequate response to what was done to "... consider ... (me) ... for available job opportunities."

If I do not hear from you by Sept. 16, I will take further action.

Sincerely, Mrs. B.

RESOLUTION: After receipt of the letter, Mrs. B. received a telephone call asking her to come in to interview for a "newly created position." Mrs. B. went in, had her interview and is now working for the company.

Huron High students plan a busy week

Over 100 Huron High School juniors and seniors recently took the Armed Services Vocational Battery (ASVAB).

The ASVAB is one of three recognized vocational aptitude test instruments available and the results can reveal students' occupational interest areas. Such information can be very helpful when planning career options or further training whether it be trade-school or academically oriented.

The test was administered by Federal Military and civilian employees over a three hour testing period.

The results of the test should be available within the next four weeks. Federal employees will be returning to assist those students to interpret their respective test scores.

The top ten candidates for Homecoming Queen were selected on October 11 by the Huron High School Senior men. The candidates selected: Connie Christman, Claudia Hagedorn, Michelle Laura, Kathy Morlock, Natalie Vass, Cheryl Greca, Trisha Hogan, Chris McLeod, Jacquie Richert and Rita Vitale.

These young ladies were honored in a gym assembly and the Queen and Court were presented at halftime in the Homecoming game on October 21 at 7:30 p.m. when Huron High School hosted Gibraltar Carlson.

The Health Occupations classes recently elected class officers according to the teacher Pamela Johnson. The following Huron students were honored by their classmates and will assume the responsibilities of class leadership.

Class I — Vice President: Marie Niecko, Treasurer: Lori Michael, Parliamentarian: Karla Uhlik.

Several students in Health Occupations classes attended the Health Occupations Students of America leadership meeting in September at Jackson Community College. The conference afforded the students the opportunity to gain an identity with the H.O.S.A. organization and its regional memberships as well as attending specific officer training workshops.

Firefighters visit Haggerty School

The Haggerty Road Elementary Kindergarten, first, second and third grade students were given a special treat Friday, October 14.

The Belleville Fire Department sent a truck to Haggerty School. The event culminated the students' week-long study of fire prevention and safety techniques for National Fire Prevention Week.

Assistant Fire Chief, Tom Griffin, and fireman, Alan Roth, demonstrated the functions of the fire truck plus the use of modern fire fighting apparatus.

The children were also treated to a demonstration by James Fitch, third grade teacher at Haggerty Elementary and a former Belleville fireman. Fitch showed the students the power of the fire hose.

The children and staff of Haggerty Road Elementary said they appreciated the program by Griffin, Fireman Roth, and the Belleville Fire Department and thanked them for their assistance.

Watershed council to hold meeting

"Assessing the Environmental Impact of Proposed Developments," will be the topic of the Fall Meeting of the Huron River Watershed Council, at Lawton Elementary School, 2250 S. Seventh in Ann Arbor.

Scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 3, the meeting is intended for individuals and local officials who are concerned about how proposed developments may affect their environment.

Michael Prochaska, private consultant and preparer of the Superior Technology Center Environmental Impact Statement, is the highlighted speaker.

Marcia Dorsey, Executive Director of the Watershed Council, commented, "With the number of recent development proposals, this is a very timely topic of discussion, one that should be of interest to all basin residents."

Also on the meeting agenda is the Council's showing of its new slide presentation on the Huron River Basin. This presentation is intended for audiences ages 11 through adult, and will be available for viewing through the Watershed Council office following their November 3rd meeting.

The Huron River Watershed Council, sponsor of the meeting, is an intergovernmental agency organized to promote cooperation and coordination between units of government on water resource issues in the drainage basin of the Huron River, and to keep the total watershed public informed on such issues.

For further information on the meeting, or on the Council and its activities, contact Marcia Dorsey, Executive Director, at (313) 769-5123 in Ann Arbor.

world of wheels

by denny campbell

Welcome . . . to the Wheel World! In an effort to serve even more people than before, Associated Newspapers has created this page dedicated to those of us known as auto enthusiasts . . . and truck enthusiasts . . . and motorcycle enthusiasts . . . and trail-able boat enthusiasts . . .

If it's got wheels, we're likely to feature it, or at least bring it to your attention. Our plans for future features include local special interest autos, customs and one-of-a-kinds, complete with photos, along with events like swap meets, shows, gymkhanas . . . everything in which enthusiasts of wheels may be interested.

My name is Denny Campbell and I'm a 30-year veteran of auto interests, 15 of those involved in special and advanced auto applications in the car industry. I'm an avid motorcyclist, boater and snowmobiler. With this column I'll try to bring to you the wheeled side of life in the Southeast Michigan area as well as the national and foreign scene. Here goes our first look at what's going on . . . in the WHEEL WORLD.

DATELINE DETROIT — The excitement on new model introductions may have dimmed some in the past, but for 1984 Detroit has pulled the plug in the "sporty car" market! Entries from all companies are unique and exciting . . . like the Pontiac Fiero, a two-seater personal car, featuring midships engine placement, a full-fledged "plastic" body, four-wheel disc brakes and fully independent suspension . . . the Chrysler Laser/Dodge Daytona, a sport coupe that, when equipped with turbocharger, pumps out a 0-50 mph time of 5.76 seconds, holds four persons, and brakes good enough to return you from 50 back to zero in 5.97 seconds!

Like the Ford Mustand SVO, a limited production high performance touring coupe, designed to satisfy the long-distance, high-speed travelers among us! And, in the European-like slot, the folks at AMC/Renault are at it again! They bring forth the Encore — a three or five door hatchback, front wheel drive with EPA 38/52 mpg capabilities. Technically very current, this fuel-injected, five-passenger beauty features independent suspension with two torsion rods for very impressive handling.

In coming weeks, with the cooperation of local dealers like Red Holman, Crestwood Dodge, North Brothers and Taylor AMC, Wheel World will feature each of these cars as they would be used in this area . . .

DATELINE CANTON — Using your education, as well as a car, always gets you the job! At least according to Rod Pyle, a recent Plymouth-Salem graduate. Becoming interested in auto body repair while attending school, Rod purchased a '77 Mustang to work on for his homework, so to speak.

Bending, scraping, filling and filing over the course of a year, Rod's car became his job application. For, after painting the car for his final grade, he proceeded to make the rounds of body shops for a job. He is now employed at Dave's Body Shop, earning money and gaining more experience! As Lothar Konietzko's photographs show, Rod's "Orange Crush" Mustang features custom Cragor Wheels, stereo, black-out headlight covers, a 2 inch rear lift kit — all to flatter the notchback coupe style. Interior work is next, then the engine! WW will keep you posted on this special car!

Next week, Cider Mill Sundays and some thoughts on car touring. This month, our driving impressions of the Renault Encore and Dodge Daytona. Next month, all the tips you forgot about driving in snow!

HOT TIP — I just purchased and installed a Rifle Fairing, from Jonimos, on my Yamaha Vision. With two storage compartments, flash-mounted turn signals and cafe racer styling, it's one of the best buys on the market!

Are you a turbo freak? Probably the best motorcycle buy around is the Yamaha 650 Turbo — list was $4995 . . . end of season is now $2595 plus tax for this little screamer at your Yammie dealer.

Rodney Pyle proudly shows off his unusual job application — his 1977 Orange Crush Mustang.

If you have a feature car, an idea or suggestion, please write to Wheel World P.O. Box 578, Wayne, 48184, or phone us at 729-4000.

New heated windshield wins award

Donnelly Mirrors, Inc. has been honored with the prestigious I-R 100 award by Industrial Research and Development Magazine and Dunn and Bradstreet Corp. for the new heated windshield designed by the Michigan Company.

This new heated windshield is called "Quick Clear" referring to its ability to quickly clear ice and fog from a windshield in a vehicle. "Quick Clear" heated glass is a laminated windshield with a transparent coating that can be electrically heated providing uniform and rapid defrosting or de-icing. In cars, trucks and busses for example, this provides improved vision and enhanced driving safety during winter conditions that cause windshield icing, frost or fog. Rapid and highly uniform clearing of the windshield without engine warmup saves time and enhances driver safety.

The technical breakthrough that made it possible for Donnelly to achieve a high uniformity in the heating of a large area of glass, without the patchy appearance and slow action of blowers and without the distraction of wires or lines in the glass, is due to the application of a transparent conductive coating on the glass. Completely sealed and insulated, power is supplied to the windshield with only minor modifications to a vehicles electrical system. The manufacturing process (patent pending) assures reliable and economical production at high volumes. This process is also adaptable to non-automotive heated glass applications.

Expected applications in the market place include automotive, truck and bus windshields. Donnelly officials can't divulge particular customers' names at this time, but indicate that vehicle manufacturers's interest is high in the new "quick Clear" heated windshield.

The top photo shows a frozen surface across the vehicles windshield. Within a minute the ice surface is melting (middle photo) and within three minutes the windshield is completely clear (bottom photo), all without prior engine warm up.

One of Michigan's greatest events for hunters is coming up shortly. Deer hunting season begins November 15th. Well over a million people participate in deer hunting each year.

We, at Meljer®, are making a commitment to cater to our Michigan deer hunters. In this One-Stop Shopping Guide you'll find 3 pages of items for deer hunters!

PAGES 20, 21 & 22

To kick off this great event, we are having a contest for hunters. Register to win one of 2 grand prizes--a Mossberg #679 30-30 deer rifle or a Marlin 336C 30-30 deer rifle. In addition, over $2700 worth of hunting accessories will be given away chain-wide!

Registration blanks and further details in the store.

DEER HUNTERS' CHECKLIST

To make sure you don't forget any deer hunting necessities, we have come up with 99 of the most needed deer hunters' items. All available at Meljer®.

news and views

LEARNING DISABILITIES ARE NOTHING NEW.... UNDERSTANDING THEM, IS

Learning disabilities come in many shapes and sizes. People with learning disabilities are average or above-average in intelligence; however, they do not receive correct and consistent information through their senses. If you were learning disabled, you might experience all or some of these problems.

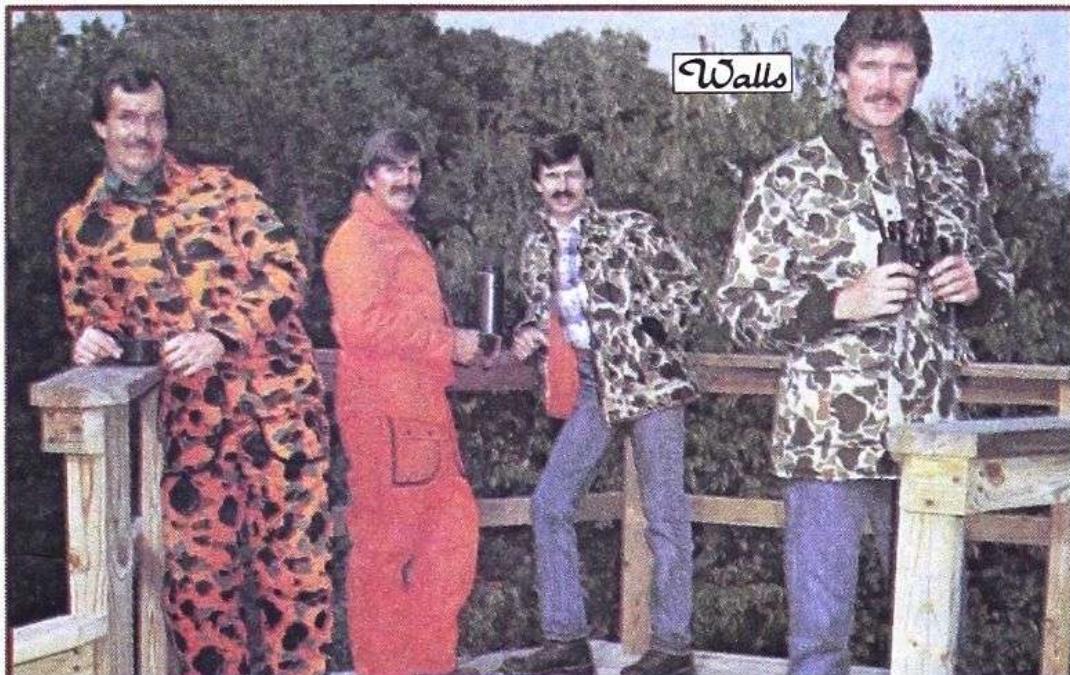

- Difficulty with learning basic academic subjects such as reading, writing, mathematics and spelling.
- Difficulty understanding and acting upon verbal instructions.

- Difficulty thinking in an orderly, logical way and distinguishing between two similar concepts.
- Difficulty finding your way and where you leave your possessions.
- Difficulty judging time and distance.
- Difficulty completing tasks.
- Difficulty judging other people's emotions and attitudes.
- Difficulty remembering specific facts presented a short time before.
- Difficulty controlling behavior.

With an early diagnosis, a proper educational setting, support from family and friends, a structured daily living environment, and acceptance as an unique individual, learning disabled people can compensate and learn to be self-sufficient.

The Michigan Association for Children and Adult With Learning Disabilities is a non-profit, volunteer organization organization, comprised of 17 chapters throughout the State of Michigan, which give support and information to parents, professionals and learning disabled individuals.

On November 4, 1983, Michigan ACLD's 19th Annual Fall Conference, "KEYS TO SUCCESS", will be held at the Sheraton-Southfield, Southfield, Michigan. Speakers will address the academic and social issues confronting the learning disabled. For further information and/or a conference reservation write or call: Michigan ACLD, 20777 Randall, Farmington, Michigan 48024, telephone number (313) 471-0790.
